Serious Blow to Serbs When the Germans Take Kraguyevatz and are Hammering at Gates of Nish—Bulgaria and Greece Friendly—French Repulse Attack of Bulgars—Germans Take 40,000 Prisoners During October.

By Associated Press.

Berlin, via Amsterdam and London, November 1.—The Serbian town of Kraguyevatz, at which is located the great Serbian arsenal, has been taken by the Germans.

Berlin, wireless to Sayville, L. I., November 1.—Bulgarian artillery that has advanced from Kniazevac and Pirot has begun a bombardment of the exterior forts of Nish, according to a dispatch from Sofia given out today by the Overseas News Agency.

Saloniki, Greece, November 1.—Bulgarian infantry, supported by two batteries, made an attack yesterday on the French advance post covering Krivolak, on the left bank of the Vardar.

After sharp fighting the Bulgarians retired, having sustained heavy losses.

London, November 1.—A continuance of friendly relations between Greece and Bulgaria is indicated by the success of a Greek commission which recently went to Sofia to negotiate for the purchase of wheat for Greece.

Berlin, wireless, November 1.—The War Office announced that during October more than 40,000 prisoners were captured on the Russian and Serbian fronts.

Berlin, wireless, November 1.—The French troops which have arrived in Serbia by way of Saloniki Greece, came from the Gallipoli peninsula, according to a dispatch from Sofia to the Overseas News Agency.

Rome, via Paris, November 1.—The fighting between Serbians and Bulgarians in the Timok valley has been desperate.

A Bucharest dispatch to a Milan paper says the third Bulgarian regiment of infantry was almost destroyed, only fifty men surviving.

Public buildings and barracks at Widin, Bulgaria, are filled with wounded.

This paper also states that 20,000 Serbians have taken refuge in Roumania.

WEDDING WILL BE HELD LATE IN DECEMBER

By Associated Press.

Washington, November 1.—It was formally announced today at the White House that the marriage of President Wilson and Mrs. Norman Galt will take place "near the close of December," and that it will be private, at Mrs. Galt's home here.

This statement was issued by Secretary Tumulty:

"In order to quiet speculation President Wilson and Mrs. Norman Galt today authorized the announcement that their marriage will take place near the close of December.

"Their plans are for a very simple ceremony. It will be quietly performed at Mrs. Galt's residence.

"No invitations will be issued, and it is expected that the only guests will be members of the two families."

OSBORN HARD HIT

Election Returns On the Herald Screen

TOMORROW NIGHT

The Herald, on account of the great local interest in the result of the election tomorrow, has made arrangements to receive by wire from the Associated Press returns from the State, and will be able to give the public the results of the balloting on the state-wide issues and the local candidates the instant authentic reports are obtainable.

Watch The Big Screen

PROPOSAL BY POWERS IS REJECTED BY CHINA

By Associated Press.

Peking, China, November 1.—The Chinese government today rejected the proposal of Japan, Great Britain and Russia for postponement of the decision whether a monarchical form of government is to be re-established.

The ministers of the three countries were informed that the Chinese government had been advised by provincial officials that they would be able to maintain tranquility in the event of the re-establishment of the monarchy.

Washington, November 1.—Information received here from official sources in China makes it appear that the triumph of the monarchical idea in the elections now in progress in China is almost certain, and it is possible that the change in the form of government will be announced before the end of the war.

FAIR AND COOL ELECTION DAY

By Associated Press.

Columbus, November 1.—Fair and cool weather over Ohio, promised by the weather bureau for tomorrow, caused advocates of the prohibition cause today to rejoice. They declared this would encourage a big rural vote, which they assume would be for the prohibition amendment.

The weather forecast did not affect the liberal leaders, however, who expressed the belief that the prohibition proposal would be lost regardless of the rural dry vote.

PUBLISHER ENDS LIFE

By Associated Press.

St. Louis, November 1.—Edward L. Prentiss, publisher of the St. Louis Times, committed suicide at his home here this morning by shooting. He was 49 years of age. He had been in poor health for 18 months.

INSPECTORS GO TO CINCINNATI

By Associated Press.

Columbus, November 1.—Acting on a request of Cincinnati dry leaders, Chief Inspector Evans of the State Liquor Licensing Board today said he would send additional liquor inspectors to Cincinnati to watch for threatened violation of saloon laws in connection with the election tomorrow.

ANTI-ALIEN LAW DEAD

By Associated Press.

Washington, November 1.—The Arizona anti-alien labor law was today declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court.

Much attention was attracted to the case because several foreign governments had protested against the law and because of its similarity to the land legislation in California which restricts the ownership of real estate by Japanese.

VILLA SURROUNDS BORDER CITY TODAY

First Clash Between Villa Soldiers and Carranzan Defenders of Agua Prieta Takes Place This Morning and Villa Demands Surrender by Two O'clock—Villa Visits American Forces and Expresses Confidence in Taking Town—U. S. Troops Ready for Serious Work.

By Associated Press.

Douglas, Arizona, November 1.—Villa and Carranza forces had their first clash in the struggle for possession of Agua Prieta today at 10 o'clock, about three miles east of the town.

The advancing Villa army came into contact with the outposts of the defenders, who fired and fell back to the trenches.

Villa's troops had reached a point on the west side of Agua Prieta at noon, thus completely encircling the town, and a demand was reported to have been made on General Calles for a surrender by 2 p. m.

General Villa himself, with four officers, came to the American line to get the bearings of the boundary line.

"Do you expect to take Agua Prieta today," a United States staff officer asked.

"Sure, Mike," replied Villa, grinning broadly.

Douglas, Arizona, November 1.—Dawn today disclosed a fact that General Villa's forces had moved closer to Agua Prieta during the night for their expected attack on the Carranza garrison commanded by General Calles.

The night passed quietly, no clashes being reported.

The opposing forces this morning were on the alert, ready for a battle which is expected to have an important bearing on the international situation in Mexico.

Early today United States soldiers began digging trenches well inside the line already constructed.

They are so situated as to control the western end of Agua Prieta, as well as the advancing right wing of Villa's army.

It was understood these trenches were for emergency use in the event of serious fighting across the border endangering Americans, and the possibility of their being compelled to fall back.

FIRST VICTIM OF HUNTING

By Associated Press.

Alliance, O., November 1.—Frank Fryfogle, 29, died today as the first victim of the hunting season in this vicinity.

Saturday afternoon, while shocking corn in a field, a rabbit ran under a corn shock. Fryfogle seized a gun and tried to dig out the rabbit. The gun was discharged and tore a gaping wound in his chest. He was not found until Saturday night, and lived until this morning.

RUMMAGE SALE IN NEW BUILDING

The Rummage Sale for the benefit of the Welfare Association will be held next Friday, November 5th, in the new room of the Burke building on Fayette street.

The women of the association are hoping for generous response to their urgent call for all kinds of garments, hats, articles for household use, carpets, rugs, bedding, especially dishes, cutlery, lamps—anything in the world that people can spare will be greatly appreciated.

Those who cannot send their donations can have them called for by notifying Miss Lucy Brownell.

When cold weather comes this year it will come all at once and those not in touch with it do not realize the distress that the Welfare Association will be called upon to relieve. The Rummage Sale donations help the poor in two ways—they provide for needs at nominal sums and bring in money by their sale.

ALL-DAY PRAYER SERVICE ON ELECTION DAY

On Tuesday, November 2, the W. C. T. U. will hold an all day prayer service at Grace M. E. church, with the following leaders for the day:

THINGS DOING AT THE MOVIES

PALACE.

Francis X. Bushman, Essanay star and one of the highest salaried "movie men" in the profession, is a visitor at the Palace Thursday and Friday of this week appearing in lead in the V-L-S-E picturization of George Barr McCutchen's novel, Graustark. Beverly Bayne, among the most charming of the Essanay favorites, supports Mr. Bushman as the Princess Yelive. Music by Horstman and Kneisley.

Another day of special attraction at the Palace is Wednesday, when "The Masked Dancer" will be presented. Anna Orr, who starred recently in "The Beauty Shop" and played opposite Richard Carle in "The Spring Maid," big Broadway sensations, will be featured in this play. Charlie Chaplin also, appears Wednesday in "The Bank."

Monday — Jack Mulhall in "The Need of Money," two-act Biograph.

Tuesday — "The Gold in the Crock," two-act Lubin.

Saturday — "The Dead Soul," three-act Lubin.

WONDERLAND.

Two performers of more than ordinary importance will greet Wonderland audiences this week. These are Blanche Sweet and Dustin Farnum, neither of whom need introduction.

Mr. Farnum may be seen Wednesday in "Captain Courtesy," a clever romantic story woven about the historic Mexican invasion of California in the early forties.

Miss Sweet appears in "The Captive," an unusual Lasky production of five reels, Wednesday. Both of these are Paramount releases.

Monday — "Grains of Rice" Vitagraph. "Fair, Fat and Saucy."

Tuesday — "The Vanishing Helms," an Elaine installment. There will be but one more Elaine picture after this.

Thursday — "The Greater Courage," Essanay 3-reel feature.

Saturday — "The Avenging Sea," "In the Swim," "Spades are Trumps," "Whose was the Sham?" five reels in all.

COLONIAL.

"Three Weeks," a remarkably true adaption of Elinor Glyn's highly successful novel of a few seasons back, is to be presented to Monday audiences at the Colonial Theater. The picture is produced in five interesting parts and released through the Reliable Company.

Valeska Suratt, famous stage favorite and one of the world's leading actresses, is starred in a Fox feature at the Colonial Wednesday, entitled "The Soul of Broadway," a picture perfect in settings and brought to a reality as few beside Miss Suratt are capable of attaining. During the course of the play this charming leading lady, who has been called "The Fashion Plate of the Stage," makes over 100 changes of costume chosen from a wardrobe said to be valued at $75,000.

B. F. KEITH'S

Belle Baker, the "Bernhardt of Song," will headline the Keith bill, Columbus, week of Nov. 8. Miss Baker is one of the most popular young women of the stage. She has slowly climbed the ladder of fame, beginning as a child laborer in a sweat shop in New York City. Here, her sweet voice attracted the attention of a visitor, and the rest was brought about by dauntless courage and persistent effort. Her songs are all original, written especially for her by Irving Berlin. Miss Baker is a comedienne of great excellence and her stage presence is pleasing.

Paul Conchas, the strongest man on the stage today, will appear with a comedy assistant, in "Achilles and Patrocles."

McWatters and Tyson, the celebrated musicians, will appear in their "Revue of Revues."

Among other feature acts will be: The Gladiators, in an act combining strength and grace. The Three Vagrants, street singers and musicians.

Bert Fitzgibbon, the "Original Nut," will be an added feature with his endless fund of nonsense.

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 7.

"The Menace of The Mute," with Arnold Daly in the leading role, will be the Gold Rooster play in 5 acts, the picture attraction for Sunday, November 7. Sheldon Lewis, Louise Rutter, Doris Mitchell and Chas. Laithe will also be in the cast.

Cooler weather brings watch, pencil and toothpick back where they are handiest found, in the accommodating vest pockets.

Signs of Returning Reason

While rumors of peace overtures and willingness, on the part of first one and then another of the warring nations of Europe to consider proposals looking to the establishment of permanent peace, are numerous and persistent, the fact that Germany realizes and appreciates the plight of Poland is the most significant sign of returning sanity.

Germany, with her powerful army has been particularly pronounced in disregarding the rights of individuals, peoples and nations. In the tremendous offensive movement of the armies of the Emperor under the direction of the general staff wanton destruction of property and total disregard of all consequences, if not encouraged, were entirely overlooked in order that the primary work of war be not interfered with in any way.

The plight of Belgium which was literally overrun and crushed by the armies of the Kaiser and all the attendant suffering of the inhabitants of that unhappy land are prominent in the memory of the people of the world.

The horrors which war brought to the peasants of Poland have no parallel in history. Four times fought across by the armies of the Kaiser and the Czar the land of the Poles was absolutely devastated and the chance of obtaining a meagre living during the long winter months rendered nil. Between twenty and thirty million people in Poland who have no part in the war are rendered homeless and destitute. Death either by exposure or starvation is theirs unless relief comes soon.

Germany has seen the white ghost of famine and despair which stalks abroad in Poland and the shock has brought sanity and human sympathy. In that particular at least humane impulses have supplanted the lusts and cruelties of war. Germany has asked the United States to assist in relieving the sufferings of the Poles and in that triumph of human pity and mercy over the spirit of war the advocates of peace see their bright ray of hope.

Germany has maintained a high purpose to eventually lead Poland away from the oppressions of Russia and give that troubled land a measure of the national freedom its people have long sought but that was rather a vague and distant ambition. Praiseworthy but unavailable as a means of present relief. Germany has intended as an after affair of war to deal with Poland justly, but that was a part of the war program and did not disturb the merciless work of war.

Now the better impulses have been aroused and if Germany will pause long enough to consider Poland's present plight and seek relief against the horrors of war is it unreasonable to hope that Germany will soon think of the present plight of the people of Germany and of the peoples of those other lands with which Germany is at war? Is it unreasonable to hope too that the people of those other lands may realize and appreciate their own sufferings and that a triumph of mercy and peace and good will follow in the wake of the specter of despair which has stalked out of stricken Poland?

Recognition of the havoc created is the first sign of returning consciousness.

The Local Phaze of It

There is a purely local phaze involved in the election tomorrow, the importance of which should not be overlooked nor minimized by the voters of Fayette county and especially not by the voters of Washington C. H.

Washington people and Washington business men, particularly, can ill afford, for financial and other reasons, to allow the result of tomorrow's balloting to be such as justify the liberal forces in belief that this city is debatable territory.

Our business men have not forgotten the old wet and dry campaigns which converted the ordinarily pleasant and orderly social and business life of the community into confusion and chaos with all the financial losses usually attendant upon such contests.

Washington citizens and business men, when they fully appreciate the local phaze of a state wide issue, will spare no effort, certainly, in bringing about a result in the election which will leave no question in the mind of any wet or dry advocate as to the sentiment existing here.

From a cold blooded standpoint of dollars and cents—as a business proposition pure and simple—laying aside, if you please, the moral phaze entirely and laying aside also, if you please, all views on the state wide proposal, Washington citizens and business men cannot afford to have any misunderstanding about the sentiment of the public on the local issue.

If this city declares by a big majority for state wide prohibition then, even though defeat may come to the proposal in the state, Washington will be known to be so pronouncedly dry that our citizens and business men will be spared the social and business bedlam bound to follow if a local campaign is precipitated.

No voter in Washington should fail to realize and appreciate the local phaze of the issue and to guard against the unpleasant and unprofitable contests certain to follow a result which will create a false impression abroad.

Poetry For Today

AUTUMN IN AN OLD VILLAGE.

The great gray houses sleep upon the hill
With shuttered windows, and the road is still.
The fields creep up and fold us silently
Into the white arms of the mothering sea.
June's folk have fled like gaudy butterflies,
To snatch new summers from serenest skies.
They fear the silence and the making storm.
They only go where life is safe and warm—

But we who love the autumn's loneliness
Stay on, until the water's blue caress
Turns to white fury on the bold, bleak shore,
And distant sails shine in the sun no more.

Then breaks the northern tempest, wild and rude,
And with that very strife comes solitude.

The doors are locked against the twilight's moan—
And every house stands splendidly alone!

BELIEVE PEACE STILL REMOTE

Rome, Nov. 1.—The pope is not likely to support any initiative looking toward peace unless he previously is assured that the allies will give it favorable consideration. The prevailing conviction at the vatican is that peace is still remote.

When Mexican or Haitian soldiers and others of that stamp lay down their arms before Americans in token of surrendering it is wisdom for the Americans to pick them up on the spot and store them out of harm's way.

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.
If you have a bad taste in your mouth, tongue coated, appetite poor, lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, troubled with undigested food, you should take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.
Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief, so you can eat what you like. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

COMPROMISE BELIEVED NEAR IN STATION CASE

Formal Action of Council in Certain Legislation and Disposal of Costs Involved in the Case Said to Be All Which Stands in Way of Complete Compromise in Closing of Paint Street and Erecting Station.

Will a full compromise be reached and work on the Union Station resumed this week, or will the compromise fail and the fight be continued in the courts?

This is the question which has been bothering many persons since Saturday evening when steps were made toward compromising the fight over the erection of the union station and the closing of Paint street.

Monday the proposal is said to have narrowed down to the question of whether the city should pay the costs of the case or whether the plaintiffs in the action should foot the bill. Also as to whether council would approve the proposal of making Water street 60 feet wide and improving with macadam from Paint to Temple streets.

Saturday afternoon the attorneys and those directly interested in the case spent several hours in an effort to compromise the action, and it is understood that the plaintiffs ask that the street across the Allen-Willis properties be constructed as previously planned. Water street widened to 60 feet, and the costs of the case be paid by the city. If this is done it is understood they will withdraw further protest to closing Paint street and building the station.

The compromise proposal will be submitted to council tonight, it is understood, and the action then submitted to the B. & O. so that if an agreement is reached, work on the union station can proceed.

The contractor has been busy having material shipped to the site of the new station, cement, gravel, stone and sand together with concrete mixer and other paraphernalia being ready for immediate use.

MANY SPEAKERS DISCUSS ISSUE OF WET AND DRY

One of the most scathing arraignments of the saloon, based upon actual conditions in an adjoining county, that has ever been made in the city was that delivered at Grace church, Sunday morning, by City Solicitor Chas. C. Crabb, of London.

Mr. Crabb depicted the situation as it is in London, Madison county, at the present time and as it was before "Home Rule" carried last year. He claimed that as soon as the saloons were voted out seven years ago the village entered upon an epoch of great prosperity. Streets were improved, new light system obtained, a $125,000 school building erected and other improvements put through.

When the saloon went back into London there were more arrests for drunkenness in six months than during the previous six years, he stated. One night recently 12 men and 4 women were in the city prison and 11 in the county jail, nearly all charged with being intoxicated, said Mr. Crabb, and at least two of the men were from Fayette county. He gave facts and figures which greatly impressed his audience.

Other speakers in the various churches throughout the city and county spoke for prohibition. One of the most notable of these speeches was that at Memorial Hall, Sunday night, when Dr. R. M. Hughey discussed the tax question as related to prohibition, ridiculing the argument that higher taxes will prevail if prohibition carries. The Presbyterian orchestra furnished a number of splendidly rendered numbers prior to the address.

Clothing, household goods, dishes, cooking utensils, in fact every thing finds a ready sale, so don't neglect to send a donation however small to the Welfare Association rummage sale.

WELL KNOWN ATTORNEY CALLED BY DEATH

Relatives and friends in this city learned with deep regret of the death of Attorney Scott Bonham, at his home in Cincinnati, Monday morning, aged 57 years.

Born and raised in Madison county, Mr. Bonham had spent the past thirty years in Cincinnati, engaging in the practice of law with marked success, becoming prominently identified with numerous business interests, and holding a high position in the esteem of the community. He was a Scottish Rite Mason and active in church and benevolent work.

Mr. Bonham's mother was, before her marriage, Miss Letitia Hays, of this city, and he leaves a large family connection in this city.

For some years he has suffered from serious heart trouble. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, in Cincinnati, under the auspices of the Scottish Rite Masons. Thursday morning the body will be taken via the Big Four to London, for burial in the family lot.

CARS DAMAGED BY CARELESS DRIVING

Dr. L. L. Brock's automobile and the Kerns Thompson machine were considerably damaged, Sunday afternoon, when Wilbur Rickman was in the act of driving the Brock car to the garage to wash it.

The Thompson car was standing along the street and in making the turn the man drove Dr. Brock's car into the Thompson car, damaging both machines.

LYCEUM TICKETS GOING RAPIDLY

HALLOWE'EN CELEBRATION ONE OF RARE ENJOYMENT

Public Parade Followed By Merry Stunts at the Y. M. C. A. Greatly Enjoyed By All Who Participate and All Who Witness Performance.

A large number took part in the Halloween parade Saturday night, and many really good costumes were in evidence, with a liberal sprinkling of "Charlie Chaps," clowns, tramps, and a score of other characters usually found in such celebrations.

The parade was in charge of Mr. B. F. Toops and proved an event of much merriment, big crowds lining the streets to watch the procession go by and applauding their favorites. And the crowd is still wondering who the embarrassed groom was who proudly led the blushing bride in the procession and had forgotten to fasten a tell-tale curl under "his" hat.

Julian Kier, as a Jew salesman, was awarded the first prize for best costume, and little Robert Flee, aged 7 years, won first prize as the best Charlie Chaplin in the bunch.

At the Y. M. C. A. all was in readiness for those who were to be admitted, and upon the return of the paraders they were admitted and one by one ran the gauntlet of the ghosts in a dark passageway they were suddenly precipitated to the basement floor and were greeted by terrible yells and thumps with stuffed clubs. The big swimming tank, full of water, was a mass of what appeared to be boiling water, phosphorus scattered upon the surface producing the effect. Crossing the water on a pontoon bridge the candidate received a severe swat with a slapstick as he leaned over to crawl under the guardrail at the end of the bridge. After other experiences the victim eventually reached the gym where the main stunts were pulled off to the merriment and delight of all. Pumpkin pie, sweet cider and apples were served in abundance.

A number of visitors watched the sport. The judges of costumes were Dr. L. M. McFadden, B. E. Kelley and Gilbert Adams.

Views of Others

CHARGE OF THE LIGHT BRIGADE

Ed. Herald:—Last week we were favored with the Gas Company ad, fully advising the public relative to the proposed lighting contract. Therein we are informed that outside the White Way the new contract will require 30 per cent more current than the present contract, and that including the White Way, 80 per cent more current will be required.

Much light is shed by the Company's statement, and from it we should draw our own conclusions. It is said we now have 130 arc lamps, 12 of which are supposed to be of 1800 candle power, and 118 of 1200 candle power. Accordingly, we have been paying for 163,200 candle power of electric lighting on a moonlight basis of 3,000 hours yearly.

Under the new system of 685 lamps, 496 of 100 candle power and the rest of 250 candle power, we are supposed to get, and must pay for, 119,850 candle power of lighting.

The Company states that it will require 80 per cent more current to serve the new 685 lamps of 119,850 aggregate candle power, than it has given in serving 130 lamps supposed to supply 163,200 candle power. Nobody believes that we have ever got what we have paid for; and the statement of the Company now confirms that belief.

The statement also suggests the following simple problem: If to serve 119,850 candle power it will require 80 per cent more current than to serve lamps furnished for ten years as of 163,200 candle power, how far short will the Company fall in furnishing the stipulated lighting service in the next ten years?

Candle power is in direct proportion to current. The Company places itself in the posture of informing the public that under its old contract to furnish 163,200 candle power of lighting, it has given 66,500 candle power. If it be judged by this experience which it admits to, we shall get in the coming ten years just forty per cent of what it agrees to furnish.

The Company's figuring of cost is also illuminating. It "estimates" the cost. Estimates can be made to prove anything. Experience is our best guide. If our money measure of payment were as elusive as the Company's measures of current and candle power, we should have a Mexicanized civilization. It would be too awful for any use to pay with a currency as far below par as the admitted standard of performance. We will not be allowed to pay with forty cent dollars.

We are told the service is to cost $12,640 yearly for the next ten years. Why increase the cost, in view of admitted performance? Is it because the Company has a cinch on a contract, on its own terms? Council has served notice that there is no room for another lighting company; and the Franchise Committee will be given time to report on the Inskeep application for a franchise until after the public is hogtied with a new contract.

It is refreshing to share the Company's confidence. But, measured by what it agreed to furnish in the last ten years, namely 163,200 candle power of lighting for 3,000 hours per year, what ought we to pay for 119,850 candle power for 4,000 hours per year?

perience which it admits to, we shall get in the coming ten years just forty per cent of what it agrees to furnish.

The Company says our hired Engineer claims lower prices will obtain for street lighting under the new contract than in any other Ohio city. We have heard that our Engineer was wished onto us by the Dutch Treat Club; that the Engineer approached his job with a sense of shock at our prices and service; and that he assured us he would remedy our wrongs and shape up a scheme warranted to give more light at less cost. And the product of his endeavors is proportioned as follows:

1. 685 lamps are to grow where 130 bloomed before;
2. 264 lamps make a White Way now lighted by 12 arc lamps;
3. The Company with a forty per cent record of service follows the

Engineer's lead, and revises the tariff upwards;

4. The Engineer, called to explain such results, tells us we are not to ask him to give away trade secrets;

5. The Company is assured that competition will not be tolerated for the lighting contract;

6. The Council indorses the Company, the Company indorses the Engineer, the Engineer indorses the other two; and the Company says he is the City's very own!

As to the White Way, it may be predicted we shall have the experience of a northern city in Ohio, where property owners announced that an assessment would be submitted to when Hades should be equipped with a skating rink.

If, as the signs point, certain legal forms are now to be gone through to land us where we were when the admitted illegal contract was called off for the coming ten years, is it to be supposed the objecting property owners will lay down? Let us hope we shall be treated to further statements from the Light Brigade.

Come Every Day If You Can

In Social Circles

The Freshour home, on the Prairie pike, was the scene of much merriment last Friday night when Miss Jennie Freshour delightfully entertained a number of her young friends with Hallowe'en celebrations. The house and lawn was profusely decorated with Jack 'O Lanterns, black cats, witches, fodder and leaves.

Upon the arrival of the guests they were escorted to the "ghost room" from which they reappeared as spooky ghosts for a ghost walk in the dark, having all kinds of uncanny experiences before they were unmasked and were led in couples to the witch's tent to have their fortunes told.

In a guessing contest, the first prize, a box of candy, was awarded to Miss Elizabeth Mark and Gilbert Freshour, the booby was awarded to Miss Ruth Miller and Walter Kearney.

Appropriate refreshments were served.

Miss Elizabeth McCafferty and Miss Sylvia Taylor assisted in the hospitalities.

Music was furnished throughout the evening, Miss Sylvia Taylor presiding at the piano.

At one o'clock the guests, numbering about forty, departed, each enthusiastic over the evening's pleasure.

Miss Charlotte Dahl charmingly entertained the Saturday evening Bridge club.

After the game an elaborate luncheon was served, with Hallowe'en cleverly suggested in decorations, favors and place cards. Mr. Cyril Edwards of Cleveland, Messrs Thompson and Lind of Troy, were out of town guests.

PINT OF WATER DROWNS A MAN

Clinton Cheney, 37, of Bucks township, Ross county, who was well known in this city where he has relatives, met death by drowning in a pint of water while at work on the John Forsythe farm.

The man, who was subject to epileptic attacks, had been sent to water the horses. A half hour later he was found face downward in a very small puddle of water, having been seized with one of the attacks and fell helpless with his face in the puddle just enough to strangle him to death.

The man was married and leaves five children.

NOTICE

To the Voters of Washington C. H.: I respectfully call your attention to my candidacy for the office of Mayor upon an Independent Ticket, and for your consideration and approval I desire to say that I am heartily in accord with law and enforcement and do not believe in tolerating bootlegging or gambling in any form, and will say that if I am elected to the office to which I aspire, and if I do not, within the first six months of my administration suppress bootlegging, gambling and other forms of vice, I will, at that time, resign my office.

I am firmly convinced that all citizens should stand upon the same level in the eyes of the law, and it shall be my endeavor, if I am elected Mayor, to treat all alike without fear or favor, and earnestly endeavor to work for the betterment of Washington C. H. and her citizens. I assure you that any support you may give me or any assistance rendered by a kind word, will be fully appreciated by me.

Most sincerely yours,

M. L. GRAY

BIBLE CLASS HOLDS ANNUAL ELECTION

The Men's Bible class of Grace M. E. church held its annual election of officers, Sunday morning, re-electing Judge T. N. Craig president of the class and Attorney Nye Gregg vice-president.

Mr. Fred Schmid was elected secretary-treasurer, taking the place of Mr. Frank Blessing, who was not a candidate for the office.

Four teachers were chosen by the class, Rev. J. V. Stone being selected as the first teacher, Rev. John Dalbey was chosen the first assistant teacher, Attorney W. B. Rodgers second assistant and Attorney D. L. Thompson third assistant.

The president and regular teacher will select new committees at once and the big class will be thoroughly organized within a very short time.

IMPRESSIVE SERVICES AT EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Bishop Reese, of Columbus, conducted a most impressive confirmation service, well attended, at St. Andrew's Episcopal church, Sunday morning.

There was a class of five confirmed.

The bishop delivered a fine sermon, his theme, "Prayer."

CIRCLEVILLE WINS FOOTBALL GAME

Circleville High beat Washington High in Saturday afternoon's football game, by a score of 13 to 18.

A good sized crowd witnessed the game.

COUNCIL TONIGHT

The regular session of the city council, which promises to be one of the most interesting held in recent months, will be held tonight at 7:30.

STOLEN OUTFIT LOCATED SATURDAY

The horse and buggy owned by Samuel Sollars of the Spow Hill pike and which was stolen at the residence of Fred Hamm, Friday night, has been recovered.

The outfit was located near Leesburg where the persons who had stolen the outfit had abandoned it.

CASEY JONES MAY GO TO THE WORKS

Nathaniel "Casey" Jones, arrested Friday night for stealing corn and harness, has signified his intention to pleading guilty to the charge of harness stealing. He denies all knowledge of a sack which was found near him and which is supposed to have been ready to carry off corn or chickens.

TARGET PRACTICE FOR LOCAL TROOPS

Company M, National Guards of this city, joined Company B, of Columbus, at Orient Saturday for two days' rifle practice.

Lieut. Paul took over part of the local company on Saturday, while Capt. O. E. Hardway accompanied the remainder Sunday morning.

AERIAL WARFARE.

Perils Aviators in the European Armies Have to Face.

Volumes might be written, says Mr. Charles Lincoln Freestone in Scribner's Magazine, about the innumerable thrilling adventures and narrow escapes incidental to the aerial warfare now raging in Europe.

Flight Commander Claude Grahame-White during the naval air raid on the Belgian coast ran into a fierce snowstorm that overpowered his planes and literally hurled him into the sea from a height of 7,000 feet. After being thirty-five minutes in the water he was picked up by a French mine sweeper, which was then shelled for an hour and a half by German guns. Truly, a lively experience!

One member of the Royal Flying corps was almost completely dazed by shell fire at close quarters and lost command of his machine. For some little time it gyrated about and finally "looped the loop," but before the point of actual disaster was reached he regained possession of his faculties and alighted with the machine under control.

A naval air man when flying seaward entered a thick white cloud and wholly lost his sense of direction. He realized that he was flying upside down only when he found that things were falling out of his pockets. Then his belt broke, and he had to hang on by his knees and elbows. At length he emerged from the cloud and saw the sea apparently over his head, but he was able to right his machine and continue his flight.

France increased the soldiers' wage 4 cents per diem and borrowed money over here to foot the bill.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Apoplexy.
Apoplexy stands near the top as a cause of death among old people. After passing middle age it is well for people of apoplectic tendency to note digestion carefully and to avoid all intemperance in eating and drinking. And another sensible thing would be to have a thorough physical examination by a good doctor at least once a year.

Our great navy that is to be will doubtless number oil driven ships, and the preparedness idea suggests that the future supply be looked after before it is too late. It would be awkward to get into a big war with some Rockefeller or some bullying nation with a bigger navy to hold us up on the price or on supply. It is unbelievable that all the oil bearing lands of the globe which might be open to purchase have been already gobbled up.

DOCTOR PRESCRIBED VINOL

To Restore Strength To This Weak, Nervous Woman.

Many fair-minded doctors prescribe Vinol because they know of what it is made, viz.—the medicinal extracts of fresh cod livers, peptonate of iron and beef peptonate, without oil or grease, in a mild tonic wine. They know these are the oldest and most famous tonics. Read the result in Mrs. Mason's case.

"I keep house for my little family of two, and got into a weak, nervous run-down condition. I was tired and weak and did not know what ailed me. My doctor prescribed Vinol. I noticed an improvement before I had finished the first bottle, and I am now feeling fine and doing all my housework." Mrs. M. S. Mason, 262 Pashale St., Trenton, N. J.

Every weak, nervous, run-down person, feeble old people and delicate child in Washington C. H., should try Vinol on our offer to return their money if it fails to benefit. Backmer & Tanquary, druggists, Washington C. H., O. advt.

TO WASHINGTON C. H. CITIZENS:

At this time I feel in duty bound to call upon every citizen of Washington Court House, who is opposed to the return of saloons in our city, to go to the polls early Tuesday morning and vote "Yes" on State-wide Prohibition.

In making this appeal urgent I am prompted not only by a desire to see the Prohibition Amendment win, but first because I am reliably informed as to the program of the liquor interests for Washington Court House. Last year Washington Court House voted dry by only 94 majority. If that majority is reduced this year we may expect to be plunged into a local option election by the filing of a wet petition if the State-wide Prohibition Amendment does not carry.

Your committee has been working night and day to avert such a disaster to our city, and therefore, as your Chairman, I am calling upon every true citizen of this city, men and women alike, to use every legitimate means within their power to defeat this brazen attempt to again open Washington Court House to saloons.

M. E. HITCHCOCK, Chairman
Fayette County Dry Committee.

COMPROMISE BELIEVED NEAR IN STATION CASE

Formal Action of Council in Certain Legislation and Disposal of Costs Involved in the Case Said to Be All Which Stands in Way of Complete Compromise in Closing of Paint Street and Erecting Station.

Will a full compromise be reached and work on the Union Station resumed this week, or will the compromise fail and the fight be continued in the courts?

This is the question which has been bothering many persons since Saturday evening when steps were made toward compromising the fight over the erection of the union station and the closing of Paint street.

Monday the proposal is said to have narrowed down to the question of whether the city should pay the costs of the case or whether the plaintiffs in the action should foot the bill. Also as to whether council would approve the proposal of making Water street 60 feet wide and improving with macadam from Paint to Temple streets.

Saturday afternoon the attorneys and those directly interested in the case spent several hours in an effort to compromise the action, and it is understood that the plaintiffs ask that the street across the Allen-Willis properties be constructed as previously planned. Water street widened to 60 feet, and the costs of the case be paid by the city. If this is done it is understood they will withdraw further protest to closing Paint street and building the station.

The compromise proposal will be submitted to council tonight, it is understood, and the action then submitted to the B. & O. so that if an agreement is reached, work on the union station can proceed.

The contractor has been busy having material shipped to the site of the new station, cement, gravel, stone and sand together with concrete mixer and other paraphernalia being ready for immediate use.

MANY SPEAKERS DISCUSS ISSUE OF WET AND DRY

One of the most scathing arraignments of the saloon, based upon actual conditions in an adjoining county, that has ever been made in the city was that delivered at Grace church, Sunday morning, by City Solicitor Chas. C. Crabb, of London.

Mr. Crabb depicted the situation as it is in London, Madison county, at the present time and as it was before "Home Rule" carried last year. He claimed that as soon as the saloons were voted out seven years ago the village entered upon an epoch of great prosperity. Streets were improved, new light system obtained, a $125,000 school building erected and other improvements put through.

When the saloon went back into London there were more arrests for drunkenness in six months than during the previous six years, he stated. One night recently 12 men and 4 women were in the city prison and 11 in the county jail, nearly all charged with being intoxicated, said Mr. Crabb, and at least two of the men were from Fayette county. He gave facts and figures which greatly impressed his audience.

Other speakers in the various churches throughout the city and county spoke for prohibition. One of the most notable of these speeches was that at Memorial Hall, Sunday night, when Dr. R. M. Hughey discussed the tax question as related to prohibition, ridiculing the argument that higher taxes will prevail if prohibition carries. The Presbyterian orchestra furnished a number of splendidly rendered numbers prior to the address.

Clothing, household goods, dishes, cooking utensils, in fact every thing finds a ready sale, so don't neglect to send a donation however small to the Welfare Association rummage sale.

WELL KNOWN ATTORNEY CALLED BY DEATH

Relatives and friends in this city learned with deep regret of the death of Attorney Scott Bonham, at his home in Cincinnati, Monday morning, aged 57 years.

Born and raised in Madison county, Mr. Bonham had spent the past thirty years in Cincinnati, engaging in the practice of law with marked success, becoming prominently identified with numerous business interests, and holding a high position in the esteem of the community. He was a Scottish Rite Mason and active in church and benevolent work.

Mr. Bonham's mother was, before her marriage, Miss Letitia Hays, of this city, and he leaves a large family connection in this city.

For some years he has suffered from serious heart trouble.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, in Cincinnati, under the auspices of the Scottish Rite Masons.

Thursday morning the body will be taken via the Big Four to London, for burial in the family lot.

CARS DAMAGED BY CARELESS DRIVING

Dr. L. L. Brock's automobile and the Kerns Thompson machine were considerably damaged, Sunday afternoon, when Wilbur Rickman was in the act of driving the Brock car to the garage to wash it.

The Thompson car was standing along the street and in making the turn the man drove Dr. Brock's car into the Thompson car, damaging both machines.

HALLOWE'EN CELEBRATION ONE OF RARE ENJOYMENT

Public Parade Followed By Merry Stunts at the Y. M. C. A. Greatly Enjoyed By All Who Participate and All Who Witness Performance.

A large number took part in the Halloween parade Saturday night, and many really good costumes were in evidence, with a liberal sprinkling of "Charlie Chaps," clowns, tramps, and a score of other characters usually found in such celebrations.

The parade was in charge of Mr. B. F. Toops and proved an event of much merriment, big crowds lining the streets to watch the procession go by and applauding their favorites. And the crowd is still wondering who the embarrassed groom was who proudly led the blushing bride in the procession and had forgotten to fasten a tell-tale curl under "his" hat.

Julian Kier, as a Jew salesman, was awarded the first prize for best costume, and little Robert Flee, aged 7 years, won first prize as the best Charlie Chaplin in the bunch.

At the Y. M. C. A. all was in readiness for those who were to be admitted, and upon the return of the paraders they were admitted and one by one ran the gauntlet of the ghosts in a dark passageway they were suddenly precipitated to the basement floor and were greeted by terrible yells and thumps with stuffed clubs.

The big swimming tank, full of water, was a mass of what appeared to be boiling water, phosphorus scattered upon the surface producing the effect. Crossing the water on a pontoon bridge the candidate received a severe swat with a slapstick as he leaned over to crawl under the guardrail at the end of the bridge. After other experiences the victim eventually reached the gym where the main stunts were pulled off to the merriment and delight of all. Pumpkin pie, sweet cider and apples were served in abundance.

A number of visitors watched the sport. The judges of costumes were Dr. L. M. McFadden, B. E. Kelley and Gilbert Adams.

Views of Others

CHARGE OF THE LIGHT BRIGADE

Last week we were favored with the Gas Company ad., fully advising the public relative to the proposed lighting contract. Therein we are informed that outside the White Way the new contract will require 30 per cent more current than the present contract, and that including the White Way, 80 per cent more current will be required.

Much light is shed by the Company's statement, and from it we should draw our own conclusions.

It is said we now have 130 arc lamps, 12 of which are supposed to be of 1800 candle power, and 118 of 1200 candle power. Accordingly, we have been paying for 163,200 candle power of electric lighting on a moonlight basis of 3,000 hours yearly.

Under the new system of 685 lamps, 496 of 100 candle power and the rest of 250 candle power, we are supposed to get, and must pay for, 119,850 candle power of lighting.

The Company states that it will require 80 per cent more current to serve the new 685 lamps of 119,850 aggregate candle power, than it has given in serving 130 lamps supposed to supply 163,200 candle power. Nobody believes that we have ever got what we have paid for; and the statement of the Company now confirms that belief.

The statement also suggests the following simple problem: If to serve 119,850 candle power it will require 80 per cent more current than to serve lamps furnished for ten years as of 163,200 candle power, how far short will the Company fall in furnishing the stipulated lighting service in the next ten years?

Candle power is in direct proportion to current. The Company places itself in the posture of informing the public that under its old contract to furnish 163,200 candle power of lighting, it has given 66,500 candle power. If it be judged by this experience which it admits to, we shall find in the coming ten years just forty per cent of what it agrees to furnish.

The Company's figuring of cost is also illuminating. It "estimates" the cost. Estimates can be made to prove anything. Experience is our best guide. If our money measure of payment were as elusive as the Company's measures of current and candle power, we should have a Mexicanized civilization. It would be too awful for any use to pay with a currency as far below par as the admitted standard of performance. We will not be allowed to pay with forty cent dollars.

We are told the service is to cost $12,640 yearly for the next ten years. Why increase the cost, in view of admitted performance? Is it because the Company has a cinch on a contract, on its own terms? Council has served notice that there is no room for another lighting company; and the Franchise Committee will be given time to report on the Unkeep application for a franchise until after the public is hogtied with a new contract.

It is refreshing to share the Company's confidence. But, measured by what it agreed to furnish in the last ten years, namely 163,200 candle power of lighting for 3,000 hours per year, what ought we to pay for 119,850 candle power for 4,000 hours per year?

The Company says our hired Engineer claims lower prices will obtain for street lighting under the new contract than in any other Ohio city. We have heard that our Engineer was wished onto us by the Dutch Treat Club; that the Engineer approached his job with a sense of shock at our prices and service; and that he assured us he would remedy our wrongs and shape up a scheme warranted to give more light at less cost. And the product of his endeavors is proportioned as follows:

1. 685 lamps are to grow where 130 bloomed before;
2. 264 lamps make a White Way now lighted by 12 arc lamps;
3. The Company with a forty per cent record of service follows the

Engineer's lead, and revises the target in the coming ten years just

4. The Engineer, called to explain such results, tells us we are not to ask him to give away trade secrets;

5. The Company is assured that competition will not be tolerated for the lighting contract;

6. The Council indorses the Company, the Company indorses the Engineer, the Engineer indorses the other two; and the Company says he is the City's very own!

As to the White Way, it may be predicted we shall have the experience of a northern city in Ohio, where property owners announced that an assessment would be submitted to when Hades should be equipped with a skating rink.

If, as the signs point, certain legal forms are now to be gone through to land us where we were when the admitted illegal contract was called off for the coming ten years, is it to be supposed the objecting property owners will lay down? Let us hope we shall be treated to further statements from the Light Brigade.

Come Every Day If You Can

In Social Circles

The Freshour home, on the Prairie pike, was the scene of much merriment last Friday night when Miss Jennie Freshour delightfully entertained a number of her young friends with Hallowe'en celebrations. The house and lawn was profusely decorated with Jack 'O Lanterns, black cats, witches, fodder and leaves.

Upon the arrival of the guests they were escorted to the "ghost room" from which they reappeared as spooky ghosts for a ghost walk in the dark, having all kinds of uncanny experiences before they were unmasked and were led in couples to the witch's tent to have their fortunes told.

In a guessing contest, the first prize, a box of candy, was awarded to Miss Elizabeth Mark and Gilbert Freshour, the booby was awarded to Miss Ruth Miller and Walter Kearney.

Appropriate refreshments were served.

Miss Elizabeth McCafferty and Miss Sylvia Taylor assisted in the hospitalities.

Music was furnished throughout the evening, Miss Sylvia Taylor presiding at the piano.

At one o'clock the guests, numbering about forty, departed, each enthusiastic over the evening's pleasure.

Miss Charlotte Dahl charmingly entertained the Saturday evening Bridge club.

After the game an elaborate luncheon was served, with Hallowe'en cleverly suggested in decorations, favors and place cards. Mr. Cyril Edwards of Cleveland, Messrs Thompson and Lind of Troy, were out of town guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Persinger, Miss Fannie Persinger, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Persinger motored to Maple Grove Springs Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hughey, daughter Susan Jane, Mrs. John Noble, Mr. and Mrs. Foster Lane, made a motoring trip to Clifton, Sunday.

Mrs. K. C. Maynard, daughters Mrs. H. B. Dahl and Mrs. D. S. Craig, Mrs. George H. Hitchcock and guest Miss MacMartin, of San Francisco, Cal., motored to Cincinnati, Monday, for a couple of days' stay. Mrs. Maynard will be the guest of Col. and Mrs. E. E. Wood and Mrs. Hitchcock and guest will visit the former's mother, Mrs. J. D. Stuckey.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Barnes spent Sunday with their son, Mr. Homer Barnes, and wife, in Hillsboro.

Mr. R. R. Kibler joined his wife and daughter Maxine, in Greenfield to spend Sunday and accompany them home from a week's visit.

Mr. Wm. Campbell spent Sunday in Cincinnati.

Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Stitt, son Robert, accompanied by Mr. J. W. Stitt and daughter Miss Erceel, were Sunday guests at Maple Grove Springs.

Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Holmes, Misses Smythe and Stall, of Plain City, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Post, of Staunton, Sunday.

Mr. Robert McKee of Bainbridge was a Sunday visitor in this city.

Mrs. O. E. Hardway and son, Mrs. G. M. Paul, Misses Louise and Bess Arehart, visited the rifle practice camp at Orient, Sunday.

Miss Opal Wood of Circleville was the week end guest of Miss Frances Bishop.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Parrett, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Maynard, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McLean, daughter Katharine, Mr. and Mrs. Gerrie Spragg motored to London Sunday to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Riddle.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Bartruff and Miss Bertha Switzer motored to Springfield Sunday and spent the day the guests of J. G. Kramer and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Hettessheimer, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Short and Misses Rommona and Maxine Clark were motoring guests of Mrs. Louisa Eberly in Lancaster, Sunday.

Miss Mable McClure arrived home Saturday evening from a visit of several weeks in Dayton.

Dr. Paul Hildebrandt came home from Orrville, O., Saturday evening to remain over Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Reeder entertained Sunday Mrs. Reeder's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. McGuire, of Sabina.

Hugh Kennedy came down from the O. S. U., Columbus, Sunday evening to spend a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Kennedy, and to cast his vote.

Miss Florence Schryver visited in Mt. Sterling over Sunday.

Mrs. Wert Briggs returned from a visit in Columbus Sunday evening.

Miss Roxie Stinson went to Columbus Saturday evening to see Frances Starr and visit friends over Sunday.

Mrs. Bertha S. Miller returned Sunday night from La Fayette, Ind., where she was called last Thursday by the death of her mother-in-law, Mrs. John L. Miller.

Practical Health Hint.

Apoplexy.

Apoplexy stands near the top as a cause of death among old people. After passing middle age it is well for people of apopleptic tendency to note digestion carefully and to avoid all intemperance in eating and drinking. And another sensible thing would be to have a thorough physical examination by a good doctor at least once a year.

Our great navy that is to be will doubtless number oil driven ships, and the preparedness idea, suggests that the future supply be looked after before it is too late. It would be awkward to get into a big war with some Rockefeller or some bullying nation with a bigger navy to hold us up on the price or on supply. It is unbelievable that all the oil bearing lands of the globe which might be open to purchase have been already gobbled up.

DOCTOR PRESCRIBED VINOL

To Restore Strength To This Weak, Nervous Woman.

Many fair-minded doctors prescribe Vinol because they know of what it is made, viz.—the medicinal extractives of fresh cod livers, peptonate of iron and beef peptone, without oil or grease, in a mild tonic wine. They know these are the oldest and most famous tonics. Read the result in Mrs. Mason's case.

"I keep house for my little family of two, and got into a weak, nervous run-down condition. I was tired and weak and did not know what ailed me. My doctor prescribed Vinol. I noticed an improvement before I had finished the first bottle, and I am now feeling fine and doing all my household work." Mrs. M. S. Mason, 203 Paskale St., Trenton, N. J.

Every weak, nervous, run-down person, feeble old people and delicate child in Washington C. H., should try Vinol on our offer to return their money if it fails to benefit. Blackmer & Tanquary, druggists, Washington C. H., O. advt.

TO WASHINGTON C. H. CITIZENS:

At this time I feel in duty bound to call upon every citizen of Washington Court House, who is opposed to the return of saloons in our city, to go to the polls early Tuesday morning and vote "Yes" on State-wide Prohibition.

In making this appeal urgent I am prompted not only by a desire to see the Prohibition Amendment win, but first because I am reliably informed as to the program of the liquor interests for Washington Court House. Last year Washington Court House, voted dry by only 94 majority. If that majority is reduced this year we may expect to be plunged into a local option election by the filing of a wet petition if the State-wide Prohibition Amendment does not carry.

Your committee has been working night and day to avert such a disaster to our city, and therefore, as your Chairman, I am calling upon every true citizen of this city, men and women alike, to use every legitimate means within their power to defeat this brazen attempt to again open Washington Court House to saloons.

DRYS AND WETS BOTH CONFIDENT

Campaign Closed and Question Put Up to Voter.

HEAVY VOTE ANTICIPATED

Temperance Forces Declare the Decision in Ohio Tomorrow Rests With the Rural Communities—Wet Leaders Predict Substantial Plurality For Their Cause—Line On Proposed Constitutional Amendments.

Columbus, Nov. 1.—Leaders of the dry cause in Ohio declare that if prohibition doesn't carry tomorrow, it will be beaten by its friends. Last year the friends of the dry cause numbered 500,000.

James A. White, state superintendent of the Ohio Anti-Saloon league, made the following statement: "It is squarely up to the rural communities. We are confident of such gains in the large cities that if the country districts return their normal dry vote we shall carry Ohio for prohibition tomorrow by a majority of 50,000. We shall make material gains over last year's figures in Cleveland, Columbus, Toledo, Dayton and Cincinnati."

Wet leaders say prohibition will be beaten by over 100,000. They claim thousands of men who voted dry last year now are indifferent or antagonistic.

Last year Ohio voted wet by 84,152 majority. The vote against it was 588,329.

This year's campaign for and against prohibition has differed as much from last year's as if the proposals were different. Last year the dry cause was both aided and blocked by partisan politics. Except in Cincinnati the Democratic organizations are said to have made common cause with the wets. In most of the state, except the other large cities, the Republican organizations helped the drys. Another big aid to the drys was the crusade for prohibition made by the candidates on the Progressive ticket.

This year there has been no such admixture of partisan politics. Yet, there is prospect of a larger dry vote from Democrats. A number of up-state leaders in the Democratic party are said to have become converted to the dry cause.

The proposal to limit to twice in six years the use of the initiative and referendum has appealed successfully to many who have favored the initiative and referendum, but are tired of having it used for something or other annually. Of course everybody who is against the system of direct voting on propositions will support the proposal to restrict it.

Secretary William Halenkamp of the initiative and referendum defense committee expressed confidence that the stability amendment will be defeated.

Conflicting Claims.

Chairman William L. Finley of the state Democratic executive committee declared both the McDermott and Sprague referendums will be defeated. Chairman Edwin Jones of the Republican executive committee expressed the belief that the Sprague redempting act will be approved by a large vote.

A heavy rural vote is expected to be cast against the proposed amendment granting four year terms for county officers.

The proposal that public bonds of the state and its subdivisions be exempt from taxation actually carried once, but promptly was cast out of the constitution because the amendment was construed to take the tax off outstanding bonds as well as future issues. The present proposal is only to take the tax off bonds issued after Jan. 1, 1916.

Besides, passing upon proposed amendments to the state constitution, voters in every municipality will be called upon tomorrow to determine local contests for office. In a number of municipalities spirited campaigns have been waged for weeks.

Columbus has experienced her first campaign under the new city charter. There are nine candidates for mayor. Forecasts of the final result is difficult, as the preferential system of voting will be employed, under which a voter may register a "first," "second" and "other choices." Mayor George J. Karb is a candidate for re-election.

BLANCHE WALSH PASSES AWAY

Cleveland, Nov. 1.—Miss Blanche Walsh's career of years as one of the premier stars of the stage ended when she died in Lakeside hospital in this city. Death came at 8:20 o'clock Sunday night, as the climax of almost twenty-four hours of unconsciousness that followed a week's struggle for life. Miss Walsh in private life was Mrs. William H. Travers. Mr. Travers was at his wife's bedside when she died. He announced that her death was due to a general breakdown and nervous prostration brought on by overwork and worry that caused a complication of ailments that made an operation necessary. Miss Walsh's body was prepared for shipment to New York. She was forty-two years old.

Blanche Walsh was born in New York city Jan. 4, 1873, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Walsh. Her father at that time was a politician in the Sixth ward. He was once warden of the Tombs prison.

VILLA'S FORCES ARE NOW AT AGUA PRIETA

Encamp On Hills South of Carranza Garrison.

ABOUT TO ATTACK ENEMY

More Than 6,000 American Soldiers at Scene of Impending Battle to Protect American Lives and Property—Carranza Garrison Reinforced and Holding Well Fortified Positions—Villa's Men Number 8,000.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 1.—In plain view of the garrison of Carranza soldiers under General P. E. Calles, the forces of General Villa are encamped on the hills south of Agua Prieta, opposite Douglas, Ariz.

Whether an attack will be delivered upon the waiting Carranza troops remains to be seen. There are those who believe that Villa will not make the attack because of the preparations made to resist him. Others believe that he will throw his half-starved force of men against the well entrenched Carranza forces and make a final desperate attempt to drive them, by the fury of his assault, over the line into Arizona as his last hope.

In the event of damage to American life or property, Villa runs the risk of having to fight 6,500 United States troops along with the Carranza garrison that should now number more than his own. The Carranza garrison was reinforced by the arrival of five train loads of fighting men through American territory from Piedras Negras, Coahuila.

American troops commanders at Douglas, Ariz., estimate the Calles

force behind the Agua Prieta fortifications at between 3,500 and 4,000 men prior to the arrival of reinforcements. Carranza officials declare that 5,000 reinforcements arrived there Saturday and Sunday. Sixteen pieces of field artillery are known to have arrived, also a number of machine guns. The Calles troops, many of whom are Indians, are well fortified and the location of Agua Prieta is somewhat above the ground over which Villistas will have to attack.

Villa claims 8,000 men. He has not nearly that number, however. He is said to have sixty pieces of artillery. There was skirmishing between Carranza outposts and advance guards of Villistas. Several Villista bands were driven back and in some instances the Carranza outposts, after firing at the advancing enemy, hurried back to the protection of the Agua Prieta guns.

General Davis is very positive that he will protect Americans if the bullets fall into American territory and harm, or promise to harm, citizens of this country. General Davis officially informed Samuel Drosben and other agents of General Villa in Douglas that shooting must not harm Americans if an attack is made.

DONATES MONEY FOR EXPERIMENT

New York, Nov. 1.—The general education board, one of John D. Rockefeller's philanthropic enterprises announced it had made gifts totaling $275,000 to four colleges and had provided the funds for a number of novel experiments in the field of education. The latter, which inaugurate a new departure in the activity of the board, include a scientific study of the Gary, Ind., scheme of public school education and of the Hampton institute system, the results of which the board intends to make available for general use throughout the country. The gifts are: Carlton college, Northfield, Minn., Congregational, $100,000; Hobart college, Geneva, N. Y., Episcopal, $50,000; Lafayette college, Easton, Pa., Presbyterian, $200,000; and Kalamazoo college, Kalamazoo, Mich., Baptist, $25,000.

FOREIGN MARKET SUFFERS

CLAIM STEEL PRICES ARE EXCESSIVE

England and France May Close Doors to United States.

Paris, Nov. 1.—From an unimpeachable source it is learned that American sales in steel to France and England have been so seriously menaced by the excessive prices demanded that four-fifths of the market probably has been lost. At the recent conference between Albert Thomas, the French minister of munitions, and Lloyd-George, the minister of munitions for Great Britain, which was attended by the chief French and English steel manufacturers, arrangements were concluded by which British mills, many of which have been released from their usual contract obligations by the slump in the building of merchant ships, will be able not only to supply all the requirements of Great Britain, but furnish more than half of France's needs.

For the past year the French, stimulated by the excessive prices charged by American manufacturers, have been resorting to every device imaginable to increase their output, with the result that France is now able to manufacture practically all the steel she needs to complete England's contribution up to the full requirements. Hence neither country is now making contracts in the United States except for special products in small quantities. Outstanding contracts to the extent of many hundreds of thousands of tons expire in January.

IN THIS TOWN

Fellow Citizens of Washington:—
On Tuesday next, November 2, you will be called upon to express your votes at the polls.
My position as a candidate for Mayor has been clearly defined. If elected, as I hope to be, I will willingly and conscientiously accept the oath of office, fully cognizant of my responsibility to all the residents of the city.
At the outset I shall endeavor to eliminate to some extent the appointive power of the mayor and to safeguard the interests of our citizens through the selection of competent appointees by calling together six or more representative citizens, to select six or more other representative citizens, and all to meet in convention for the purpose of acting in an advisory capacity, recommending such persons as in their judgment, will be best qualified for offices under appointment of the mayor.
I believe that this course guarantees our citizens one and all a square deal.
Yours Sincerely,
HENRY C. SHOOP.

KEY TO SERBIAN CAPITAL FALLS

Report of Capture of Pirot By Bulgars Confirmed.

SERB ARMY IN JEOPARDY

Gap Through Which It Must Escape Narrowed by the Movements of Teutonic and Bulgarian Armies. Allied Troops On the Offensive On Southern End of Nish Railroad—On Other Fronts.

London, Nov. 1.—Late dispatches confirm the report that Pirot fortress, described as the key to Nish, the Serbian capital, has been captured by the Bulgarians. It is announced also that the Austro-Germans, advancing from the north, are endeavoring to form a ring around Kragujevatz, where the Serbian arsenal is situated. Thus, besides endangering both the Serbian war capital and the town where the Serbian munitions are manufactured, the central powers, with Bulgarian aid, are narrowing the gap through which the Serbian army in the northeast must escape.

Simultaneously the Austrians are attacking Montenegro to remove, if possible, the danger of having an enemy army on their flank. Little has been said about the fighting between the Austrians and Montenegrins along the Drina river, but apparently it is of a most sanguinary character, as it took the Austrians more than a week to force a crossing of the river at one point alone, that south of Vishegrad. The Anglo-French troops are firmly establishing themselves along the southern end of the Nish railway, and, crossing into Bulgaria, have occupied the hills surrounding Strmitza, although the capture of that town, which has been reported, is not officially confirmed. The allied fleets, too, have again bombarded towns on the Aegean sea.

While these efforts take some of the strain off heavily-trying Serbia, there is no reliable information as to the movements of the greater forces which, it is hoped here, will save her. Reports continue to circulate, chiefly from German sources, of a Russian army which is to march across Roumania to the rescue. But of the British and French reinforcements no news has been received.

Italy has undertaken a general offensive and there is talk of another offensive on the western front. The Germans seem to have anticipated this, as they launched a general attack in Champagne over a front of about five miles in an effort to recover ground which the French recently took from them. They succeeded in recapturing the Butte de Tahure, but, according to the French account, they were repulsed everywhere else, suffering extremely heavy losses, and to the north of Le Mesnil they actually lost one of their own trenches.

Despite the coming of winter, there has been more activity on the Russian front. There has been a lull in the fighting in Courland, where the Germans have apparently failed to take Riga or Dyvinsk or to improve to any marked degree their position. It is believed that they are preparing for another drive. It must be made soon, as snow is already falling. Along the Styria-Germans are engaged in a counter offensive and have recovered some territory which General Ivanoff took from them. Further south, in Galicia, the Russians have returned to the offensive.

to overcome the inexorable rules preventing the marriage of members of royalty with commoners.

Despite the opposition of the girl's father, who is a high official of the Austrian state police, Miss Rybicka gave up her home and traveled with the prince throughout the country. Finally the couple took apartments in Vienna, where the tragedy occurred.

The reconstructed story is that the girl urged marriage before the departure from Vienna. The prince futilely endeavored to obtain his father's consent. His efforts in this direction failing, the prince offered the girl half a million kronen as recompense. This offer the girl refused. The prince then pointed out marriage was impossible and tried to break off relations with the girl, in obedience to his father's orders.

Seeing the hopelessness of her plight, the girl, threw vitriol in the prince's face, destroying one eye and injuring the other, and followed the acid with shots from a revolver which she had kept concealed, four bullets finding lodgment in the prince's body. Then she turned the weapon upon herself with fatal effect.

M'GOWAN ON NAVAL STORES

Washington, Nov. 1.—Increases in the navy's store of supplies to make possible the placing of the fleets upon a war basis at a few hours' notice are urged by Rear Admiral Samuel McGowan, paymaster general, in his annual report to Secretary Daniels. For the last four years, the admiral says, navy ship tonnage fit for active service has increased 30 per cent, while there has been practically no increase in the value of stores on hand.

"As an example of financial economy," adds the report, "this makes an excellent showing; but it is a condition which should not be permitted to longer continue, for it is a matter of history that the issue of every great conflict has been in the last analysis dependent largely upon the question of supply. There should be no real difference between peace times and war times with respect to ship supply."

Admiral McGowan figures the present property investment of the navy at $50,620,376, of which $459,686,551 is represented in ships, $206,635,104 in stations and equipment and $184,298,720 in stores. The total expenditures on the navy from 1794 to 1915, inclusive, is placed at $5,214,329,641.

Berlin, Nov. 1.—A special investigation by the German authorities concerning Robert Fay, under arrest in New York, charged with conspiracy in connection with an alleged plot to blow up ships carrying supplies for the entente allies, and who has declared that he was a lieutenant in the German army, was followed by a statement from the authorities that there is not now and never was an officer called Fay in the German army.

GAS FUMES KILL WOMAN

Washington, Nov. 1.—Mrs. W. S. Bolling, mother of President Wilson's fiancée, with her son, William H. Bolling, and his wife, narrowly escaped death from hydrocyanic gas poisoning here in their rooms in an apartment house. Miss Louise Roberts, twenty-three, living in an apartment directly under that occupied by Mrs. Norman Galt's mother and other relatives, was killed by the gas, which escaped from a basement room where it was being used as an insecticide. The gas penetrated to the halls and filtered into the room occupied by Miss Roberts, causing her death.
The Bollings and other families in the apartment house were aroused by the fumes and upon making an investigation found Miss Roberts had succumbed. The members of the Bolling family suffered no more harm than nausea.

Ages of German Generals.
Too old at forty or at fifty either has, as a rule, no meaning in connection with the higher commands in the German army. Haeseler and Von der Goltz are seventy-nine and seventy-two years of age respectively; Von Hindenburg and Von Mackensen are sixty-eight and sixty-six; Van Kluck is sixty-nine, and of the same age are Prince Leopold of Bavaria and the Generals von Buelow and von Hausen. Von Bissing and Von Falkenhayn are each seventy-one. Woyrsch, Elchhorn, Emmich and Moltke are sixty-seven, and the following have the number of years stated after them: Linsingen, sixty-five; Heeringen, sixty-five; Scholtz, sixty-four; Gallwitz, sixty-three; Pawlow, sixty-two; Elnen, sixty-two; Falkenhayn, chief of general staff, fifty-four. The crown prince of Wurtemberg, Bavaria and Prussia, commanding armies, are respectively fifty, forty-six and thirty-three years of age. The latter would seem to be quite an exception.—Westminster Gazette.

POOREST GAME OF THE SEASON FOR WIND UP

Local Ball Team Was Sadly Lacking in Every Department of the Game Sunday, and the New Holland Giants Take Contest With Ease

About the poorest excuse for baseball ever advanced in this city was put up by the Athletics Sunday afternoon at Athletic park. The New Holland Giants simply walked away with an easy 10 to 6 victory, at the same time garnering the championship of a series of three games.

Weather conditions were excellent and the diamond fast, and at the beginning of the game, at least, the attendance was good. The game started off in promising style but the jinx jumped in in the sixth and eight New Holland tallies had crossed the plate before the riot finished. From that time on the exhibition of the Athletics comprised of one continuous chain of errors and bonehead plays, seasoned with poor stick work, poorer base running and rotten coaching.

Packard's so-called efforts in right field were sad; Rannels booted them right and left at second and Adams simply went to fragments at third. Corwin had one error, but his play generally was first class.

"Sandy" and "Bunk" Kneisley, Bainbridge lads who did the twirling and receiving for the Athletics a week ago, were behind the guns again Sunday. Both performed splendidly, under the circumstances. The pitching of young Kneisley was on the whole, superior to that of Simms of the Giants, and with even fair support there is little doubt but that he would have pitched the locals to victory. As it was, the confusion proved a little too much for him and he was relieved by Linson in the eighth.

In the ninth Catcher Kneisley was relegated to the right garden. Adams going behind the bat and Nip Jones taking the third sack. The shift was made with a view to strengthening the third corner, but was worked too late to be effective.

But aside from the fact that the work of the locals was not up to the mark, it must be said that the New Hollanders put up a pretty good article of base ball and were as much in the game at the finish as at the start.

The game is the last of the Athletic schedule and it is to be regretted that the good work the local boys have been doing this season should close in such a manner.

AT THE EMPIRE

Gaskill & MacVitty announce the return at the Empire Theater on Tuesday, November 2, of Harold Bell Wright's dramatization of his very popular novel, "The Shepherd of the Hills," presented by a great company with special scenery, mechanical and electrical effects for the production in its entirety. In making the dramatization, Mr. Wright has collaborated with Elsbury W. Reynolds.

"The Shepherd of the Hills" is a story of humor and pathos told in a simple, direct manner of love, mystery and heroism, with its scenes all in the Ozark mountains, Southern Missouri, where the author lived and preached for some years. There are several exciting incidents, including the night ride of the splendid heroine over the hills through a storm; an attack upon the shepherd, and the moral victory of a man when a panther is about to spring upon his rival, but there is no melodramatic touch to the play.

While Mexico has suffered economically the past few years, there are well informed judges on this side of the line who believe that her chances of recovery are good. It is said that the Carranza government assumes responsibility for all debts of the government growing out of revolution. That will interest all classes to support the recognized government. The present national debt is placed at $22 per capita, and if new claims should double that figure the case would still be one to encourage enterprise and capital. Mexico's resources are of incalculable richness. Established peace should set the country forward rapidly.

Mrs. Bowser Smiles

But Mr. Bowser Laughs Uproariously

By M. QUAD.

Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Although living at this modern date, Mr. Bowser still clings to two or three old fashioned notions. One of them is to carry an old fashioned leather wallet with a strap around it, such as you might possibly see a farmer of today lugging around.

Mr. Bowser's great-grandfather had such a wallet, his grandfather, and it helped him to fight the battle of Bunker Hill; his father had one and lived to be ninety years old. As soon as Mr. Bowser got any money to carry around he bought him a leather wallet. This wallet has had many various adventures, one of which is to be here related.

Another of Mr. Bowser's old fashioned notions is that if a burglar should get into the house one of the first things he would swipe would be that leather wallet, reposing in his coat pocket. Still another is that should

SHE SAT DOWN ON THE FLOOR AND COUNTED THE SUM.

Mrs. Bowser by chance got that old wallet in her hands she would divide the money—perhaps take all. Therefore every night of his life before going to bed he hides that wallet. Sometimes it is under the bureau, in his shoe, in the clothes closet, under the lavatory, under the mattress, behind a picture—anywhere a burglar would not think of looking for it would be safe from Mrs. Bowser. All this has been a source of amusement to Mrs. Bowser.

The other morning, while sweeping and dusting her bedroom, she thought she saw one end of the old wallet under the bureau. As she knew that it was one of Mr. Bowser's hiding places, she reasoned that he had forgotten it in his haste to get to the office. She sat down and smiled. It had been an hour since he left, and it was a great wonder that he had not come rushing back to recover his lost property. He might be expected at any moment.

She smiled again as she reached for the wallet, but the smile faded. It was one of Mr. Bowser's old tan shoes, which had somehow escaped observation until this hour. The joke was not on Mr. Bowser, but rather on herself. Providence was kind to her, however. An hour before noon she answered the upstairs doorbell to find a grocer's boy on the steps. He had a wallet in his hand. It was Mr. Bowser's wallet. She recognized it instantly.

"Mrs. Bowser," said the boy, "Mr. Bowser stopped at our grocery when he was going downtown this morning and bought a quarter's worth of sugar."

"Yes, I told him to," was the reply.

"He was in such a hurry to get the car that he left his wallet behind. Here it is. We found it ten minutes after he went away, but expected him back."

Mrs. Bowser hunted up a quarter and gave it to the boy as his reward and took in the old wallet. The other smiles had proved failures, but the smile she smiled now must prove a success, for here was the wallet, sure enough. On the evening previous she had asked Mr. Bowser for a couple of dollars to buy gloves and handkerchiefs. He had softly and gently replied:

"I am sorry I can't do it, my dear—not for a day or two. I have less than a dollar in my pocket."

As she held the wallet in her hand it bulged suspiciously for a poor man's wallet. She carefully opened it and gave a gasp of astonishment. It was crowded with greenbacks. She sat down on the floor and counted the sum. There was $236. Mr. Bowser had fibbed to her. Here was enough to buy the gloves and handkerchiefs she would require for the rest of her life. But she knew that all husbands fibbed about money, and she did not lay it up against Mr. Bowser.

Was there a joke here? Of course there was, and a big one too. It was joke enough for Mr. Bowser to leave his wallet home, but to run off and leave it on the counter of a grocery was worth chuckling, giggling and smiling over. Why had he not gone back to the grocery when he missed it? He must have believed that he had had his pocket picked on the car.

The dear old wallet and its contents

were laid away with careful hand, and Mrs. Bowser felt so good over what would happen when the loser reached home for dinner that the cook said to her:

"Did you get a letter this morning, ma'am, saying that your dear mother would soon arrive here on a visit?"

"No. Why?"

"Why, you are smiling all over."

"Oh, I was thinking about something funny."

"I wish I could think of something funny," sighed the cook. "Since my brother Tom died from a broken head, by a policeman's hand because he was engaged in a little row, I have seen nothing to make me smile. I think of nothing but graveyards and ghosts and tombstones and how poor Tom, had he lived on, would probably have been the champion lightweight of the world."

During the long afternoon Mrs. Bowser smiled at intervals and looked at the clock at other intervals. She expected that when Mr. Bowser did come he would come with a rush and lay the loss of the wallet to her as soon as he entered the door. She was at the front window looking out when Mr. Bowser dropped off the car. He was not in haste.

He was not hurried. As he came down the walk he had a look of supreme contentment. It did not seem possible that a man who had lost a wallet with $236 in it could be so satisfied over it.

"Hello, dear," he called out as he entered the hall. "How have things gone today?"

Was that Mr. Bowser—Samuel Bowser—the man who had turned the roof off the house when on an occasion he had lost 10 cents somewhere? Mrs. Bowser felt a chill go over her, but she drove it away. Of course it was Mr. Bowser, and he had lost an old wallet invented soon after Columbus discovered America. It was jammed with wealth. Hadn't Mr. Bowser discovered his loss yet? At the dinner table Mrs. Bowser recovered her smiles and gently led up to the great tragedy which was coming by saying that she must have the gloves and handkerchiefs by Saturday at the latest. She would also need money to buy hosiery and a few other things. She expected her words would make Mr. Bowser feel for his wallet. He didn't make the usual gesture when money was talked of. Instead of that he said:

"All in good time, honey. I shall have quite a lump of cash on Friday, and I can spare you what you want."

No, this was not Bowser—Samuel Bowser—but some other Bowser.

When they went up to the sitting room after dinner Mrs. Bowser made a more aggressive attack by saying:

"I see you stopped and ordered that sugar this morning."

"Yes, I always try to remember those things."

Not a word about his wallet, and she tried again.

"Did you forget your wallet when you went away this morning? You were in such a hurry that I thought you might have forgotten it. I have been somewhat worried all day."

"No, I did not forget it," he replied in a careless way.

"You did not leave it at the grocery or lose it at the hands of a pickpocket?"

"Why, no, Mrs. Bowser. You know I am a careful man."

"But—but—" she was stammering, when the doorbell rang, and she answered it to find the grocer's boy there again.

"Mrs. Bowser," he said, "you are to be arrested!"

"Why—what?"

"We found a wallet after Mr. Bowser left the store this morning and thought it was his. I brought it up to the house and gave it to you. It was not Mr. Bowser's. It belongs to a man named Snider. You took it in and kept it. If you don't hand it over at once Mr. Snider is going to have you sent to prison!"

Mrs. Bowser ran and got the wallet and handed it over and as she returned to the sitting room Mr. Bowser demanded:

"What is this about a wallet and a man named Snider?"

"I—I—thought it was your wallet!" she gasped.

"My wallet! Why, here is my wallet, and it has been with me every minute of the day! There seems to be a mystery here."

Mrs. Bowser remained silent. A great light suddenly came to Mr. Bowser. He chuckled like a red squirrel. He gurgled like a brook. He grinned like a contortionist. All of a sudden, like a boiler explosion, he went into the air. He laughed, he shouted, he whooped and he pounded his leg and bent backward and forward. Mrs. Bowser and the cat fled upstairs in terror, and after Mr. Bowser had continued his riot for five minutes he was obliged to go to the door to answer a ring of the bell. It was a policeman who stood there and demanded:

"Is there a maniac running loose in this house?"

"I was only laughing," replied Mr. Bowser.

"But what a laugh! I heard you half a block away."

"But, you see, my wife has the joke on me about forty-nine times out of fifty. This happens to be the fiftieth time. She thought I had lost my wallet, and I hadn't, and she took—took in—she took!"

And Mr. Bowser broke loose again as he shut the door and the officer paused at the gate to say to himself:

"I think I ought to have arrested him. That's just such laughter as my brother Bill laughed two days before we took him to a lunatic asylum and he is there yet!"

CHAMPION EGG LAYER OF WORLD

Philadelphia, Nov. 1.—With a record of 314 eggs in 365 days, Lady Eglantine, a white Leghorn pullet, became the champion egg layer of the world. The little hen, weighing three and a half pounds, completed her year egg laying competition at Delaware college, Newark, Del., and beat the previous record of 286 eggs by 28.

The estimates of casualties in the European conflict recently given out by General F. V. Greene are worthy of attention, although they are mere guesses with the exception of the armies of Germany and Great Britain. General Greene is a veteran soldier and a painstaking historian with a trained judgment for army subjects. He places the grand total of casualties at 8,000,000, of whom 2,000,000 are dead, 4,000,000 have been wounded and 2,000,000 taken prisoners. The casualties he divides among the belligerents as follows: Russia, 2,200,000; Germany and Austria, 1,300,000 and 1,800,000 respectively; France, 1,400,000; Great Britain, 320,000, and Italy, 25,000. The losses of Serbia are not given. Germany has reported having taken 2,000,000 Russian prisoners, and, if true, that upsets General Greene's figures. Russia has admitted heavy losses in killed and wounded, and 3,500,000 may not be too high for the total casualties in the czar's army. If the figures are only approximately correct the percentage of loss has been high in comparison with recent wars. The proportion of prisoners has been very high when it is considered that there have been no great surrenders of whole armies.

King George of England threatens to become a private citizen if the war doesn't get on after his liking. Probably Kitchener would give him a private soldier's kit and a chance to fight for his hobby like the average Briton.

HARTMAN THEATER

Attractions At The Hartman Theater, Columbus, Week of November 8th.

At the Hartman Theater, Columbus, one of the most welcome and attractive entertainments of the early theatrical year will be the appearance on Tuesday and Wednesday, November 9-10th with a Wednesday matinee, of "Sari." This is Henry W. Savage's production and in "Sari" Mr. Savage has scored a success comparable only with that he achieved with "The Merry Widow." At the Hartman, the same company will appear which presented the operetta during its long and popular New York run. The organization is headed by Mizzi Hajos prima donna soubrette of unique distinction, and an immense favorite with all theater goers. It includes also, many artists of fixed reputation as actors and singers. This cast of principals is supported by a chorus which, as a singing ensemble, Mr. Savage believes is superior to any other organization ever assembled for one of his productions. The music of "Sari" has achieved world-wide popularity. Such numbers as "Love's Own Sweet Song," "The Hazazaa" and "Love Has Wings," sprang into instant popularity when heard in New York and they are played and sung now from one end of the country to the other.

As a production "Sari" is as elaborately beautiful as any production that Henry W. Savage has ever made. Mail orders for seats for this engagement will be received at the Hartman, and filled promptly in order of their receipt.

At the Hartman Theater, Columbus, on Friday and Saturday nights, November 12-13th and Saturday matinee, beautiful Julia Sanderson, Joseph Cawthorne and Donald Brian, three of America's best known and most powerful musical comedy stars, will appear in their latest and greatest New York success, "The Girl from Utah."

"The Girl from Utah" was produced originally in London, and it is said by those who are competent to judge, that it is the best of the recent examples of this kind of sparkling entertainment that George Edwards and his Gaiety Theater Company made so famous in the British metropolis. The late Charles Frohman presented it in this country early last season. The book is by James Tanner and the music by Paul Rubens and Sidney Jones names familiar to everyone who is interested in the musical comedies brought to America from England.

It will be presented at the Hartman by a big company numbering 76 besides the stars.

Berlin, via Amsterdam and London, November 1.—The Serbian town of Kraguyevatz, at which is located the great Serbian arsenal, has been taken by the Germans.

Berlin, wireless to Sayville, L. I., November 1.—Bulgarian artillery that has advanced from Kniazevac and Pirot has begun a bombardment of the exterior forts of Nish, according to a dispatch from Sofia given out today by the Overseas News Agency.

Saloniki, Greece, November 1.—Bulgarian infantry, supported by two batteries, made an attack yesterday on the French advance post covering Krivolak, on the left bank of the Vardar.

After sharp fighting the Bulgarians retired, having sustained heavy losses.

London, November 1.—A continuance of friendly relations between Greece and Bulgaria is indicated by the success of a Greek commission which recently went to Sofia to negotiate for the purchase of wheat for Greece.

Berlin, wireless, November 1.—The War Office announced that during October more than 40,000 prisoners were captured on the Russian and Serbian fronts.

Berlin, wireless, November 1.—The French troops which have arrived in Serbia by way of Saloniki Greece, came from the Gallipoli peninsula, according to a dispatch from Sofia to the Overseas News Agency.

Rome, via Paris, November 1.—The fighting between Serbians and Bulgarians in the Timok valley has been desperate.

A Bucharest dispatch to a Milan paper says the third Bulgarian regiment of infantry was almost destroyed, only fifty men surviving.

Public buildings and barracks at Widin, Bulgaria, are filled with wounded.

This paper also states that 20,000 Serbians have taken refuge in Roumania.

WEDDING WILL BE HELD LATE IN DECEMBER

By Associated Press.

Washington, November 1.—It was formally announced today at the White House that the marriage of President Wilson and Mrs. Norman Galt will take place "near the close of December," and that it will be private, at Mrs. Galt's home here.

This statement was issued by Secretary Tumulty:

"In order to quiet speculation President Wilson and Mrs. Norman Galt today authorized the announcement that their marriage will take place near the close of December.

"Their plans are for a very simple ceremony. It will be quietly performed at Mrs. Galt's residence.

"No invitations will be issued, and it is expected that the only guests will be members of the two families."

PROPOSAL BY POWERS IS REJECTED BY CHINA

By Associated Press.

Peking, China, November 1.—The Chinese government today rejected the proposal of Japan, Great Britain and Russia for postponement of the decision whether a monarchical form of government is to be re-established.

The ministers of the three countries were informed that the Chinese government had been advised by provincial officials that they would be able to maintain tranquility in the event of the re-establishment of the monarchy.

Washington, November 1.—Information received here from official sources in China makes it appear that the triumph of the monarchical idea in the elections now in progress in China is almost certain, and it is possible that the change in the form of government will be announced before the end of the war.

FAIR AND COOL ELECTION DAY

VILLA SURROUNDS BORDER CITY TODAY

First Clash Between Villa Soldiers and Carranzan Defenders of Agua Prieta Takes Place This Morning and Villa Demands Surrender by Two O'clock—Villa Visits American Forces and Expresses Confidence in Taking Town—U. S. Troops Ready for Serious Work.

By Associated Press.

Douglas, Arizona, November 1.—Villa and Carranza forces had their first clash in the struggle for possession of Agua Prieta today at 10 o'clock, about three miles east of the town.

The advancing Villa army came into contact with the outposts of the defenders, who fired and fell back to the trenches.

Villa's troops had reached a point on the west side of Agua Prieta at noon, thus completely encircling the town, and a demand was reported to have been made on General Calles for a surrender by 2 p. m.

General Villa himself, with four officers, came to the American line

to get the bearings of the boundary line.

"Do you expect to take Agua Prieta today," a United States staff officer asked.

"Sure, Mike," replied Villa, grinning broadly.

Douglas, Arizona, November 1.—Dawn today disclosed a fact that General Villa's forces had moved closer to Agua Prieta during the night for their expected attack on the Carranza garrison commanded by General Calles.

The night passed quietly, no clashes being reported.

The opposing forces this morning were on the alert, ready for a battle which is expected to have an important bearing on the international situation in Mexico.

Early today United States soldiers began digging trenches well inside the line already constructed.

They are so situated as to control the western end of Agua Prieta, as well as the advancing right wing of Villa's army.

It was understood these trenches were for emergency use in the event of serious fighting across the border endangering Americans, and the possibility of their being compelled to fall back.

FIRST VICTIM OF HUNTING

By Associated Press.

Alliance, O., November 1.—Frank Fryfogle, 29, died today as the first victim of the hunting season in this vicinity.

RUMMAGE SALE IN NEW BUILDING

The Rummage Sale for the benefit of the Welfare Association will be held next Friday, November 5th, in the new room of the Burke building on Fayette street.

The women of the association are hoping for generous response to their urgent call for all kinds of garments, hats, articles for household use, carpets, rugs, bedding, especially dishes, cutlery, lamps — anything in the world that people can spare will be greatly appreciated.

Those who cannot send their donations can have them called for by notifying Miss Lucy Brownell.

When cold weather comes this year it will come all at once and those not in touch with it do not realize the distress that the Welfare Association will be called upon to relieve. The Rummage Sale donations help the poor in two ways — they provide for needs at nominal sums and bring in money by their sale.

ALL-DAY PRAYER SERVICE ON ELECTION DAY

On Tuesday, November 2, the W. C. T. U. will hold an all day prayer service at Grace M. E. church, with the following leaders for the day:

6 a. m., Mrs. S. E. Adams; 7 a. m., Mrs. Chas. Stafford; 8 a. m., Mrs. M. O. Ireland; 9 a. m., Mrs. Sharp Davies; 10 a. m., Mrs. S. E. Sims; 11 a. m., Mrs. G. M. Ustick; 12 m., Mrs. J. W. Willis; 1 p. m., Mrs. F. G. Carpenter; 2 p. m., Mrs. Ed Darlington; 3 p. m., Mrs. P. J. Henness; 4 p. m., Mrs. H. L. Spray; 5 p. m., Mrs. A. F. Hopkins. 256t2

The Welfare Association needs funds for winter expenses to help the poor help themselves. Rummage and send your donations or call Miss Lucy Brownell and they will be sent for you. 256t6

THINGS DOING AT THE MOVIES

PALACE.

Francis X. Bushman, Essanay star and one of the highest salaried "movie men" in the profession, is a visitor at the Palace Thursday and Friday of this week appearing as lead in the V-L-S-E picturization of George Barr McCutchen's novel, Graustark. Beverly Bayne, among the most charming of the Essanay favorites, supports Mr. Bushman as the Princess Yefive. Music by Horstman and Kneisley.

Another day of special attraction at the Palace is Wednesday, when "The Masked Dancer" will be presented. Anna Orr, who starred recently in "The Beauty Shop" and played opposite Richard Carle in "The Spring Maid," big Broadway sensations, will be featured in this play. Charlie Chaplin also, appears Wednesday in "The Bank."

Monday — Jack Mulhall in "The Need of Money," two-act Biograph.

Tuesday — "The Gold in the Crock," two-act Lubin.

Saturday — "The Dead Soul," three-act Lubin.

WONDERLAND.

Two performers of more than ordinary importance will greet Wonderland audiences this week. These are Blanche Sweet and Dustin Farnum, neither of whom need introduction.

Mr. Farnum may be seen Wednesday in "Captain Courtesy," a clever romantic story woven about the historic Mexican invasion of California in the early forties.

Miss Sweet appears in "The Captive," an unusual Lasky production of five reels, Wednesday. Both of these are Paramount releases.

Monday — "Grains of Rice" Vitagraph. "Fair, Fat and Saucy."

Tuesday — "The Vanishing Helmet," an Elaine installment. There will be but one more Elaine picture after this.

Thursday — "The Greater Courage," Essanay 3-reel feature.

Saturday — "The Avenging Sea," "In the Swim," "Spades are Trumps," "Whose was the Sham?" five reels in all.

COLONIAL.

"Three Weeks," a remarkably true adaption of Elinor Glyn's highly successful novel of a few seasons back, is to be presented to Monday audiences at the Colonial Theater. The picture is produced in five interesting parts and released through the Reliable Company.

Valeska Suratt, famous stage favorite and one of the world's leading actresses, is starred in a Fox feature at the Colonial Wednesday, entitled "The Soul of Broadway," a picture perfect in settings and brought to a reality as few beside Miss Suratt are capable of attaining. During the course of the play this charming leading lady, who has been called "The Fashion Plate of the Stage," makes over 100 changes of costume chosen from a wardrobe said to be valued at $75,000.

B. F. KEITH'S

Belle Baker, the "Bernhardt of Song," will headline the Keith bill, Columbus, week of Nov. 8. Miss Baker is one of the most popular young women of the stage. She has slowly climbed the ladder of fame, beginning as a child laborer in a sweat shop in New York City. Here, her sweet voice attracted the attention of a visitor, and the rest was brought about by dauntless courage and persistent effort. Her songs are all original, written especially for her by Irving Berlin. Miss Baker is a comedienne of great excellence and her stage presence is pleasing.

Paul Conchas, the strongest man on the stage today, will appear with a comedy assistant, in "Achilles and Patrocles."

McWatters and Tyson, the celebrated musicians, will appear in their "Revue of Revues."

Among other feature acts will be: The Gladiators, in an act combining strength and grace. The Three Vagrants, street singers and musicians.

Bert Fitzgibbon, the "Original Nut," will be an added feature with his endless fund of nonsense.

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 7.

"The Menace of The Mute," with Arnold Daly in the leading role, will be the Gold Rooster play in 5 acts, the picture attraction for Sunday, November 7. Sheldon Lewis, Louise Rutter, Doris Mitchell and Chas. Laithe will also be in the cast.

Cooler weather brings watch, pencil and toothpick back where they are handiest found. In the accommodating vest pockets.

Signs of Returning Reason

While rumors of peace overtures and willingness, on the part of first one and then another of the warring nations of Europe to consider proposals looking to the establishment of permanent peace, are numerous and persistent, the fact that Germany realizes and appreciates the plight of Poland is the most significant sign of returning sanity.

Germany, with her powerful army has been particularly pronounced in disregarding the rights of individuals, peoples and nations. In the tremendous offensive movement of the armies of the Emperor under the direction of the general staff wanton destruction of property and total disregard of all consequences, if not encouraged, were entirely overlooked in order that the primary work of war be not interfered with in any way.

The plight of Belgium which was literally overrun and crushed by the armies of the Kaiser and all the attendant suffering of the inhabitants of that unhappy land are prominent in the memory of the people of the world.

The horrors which war brought to the peasants of Poland have no parallel in history. Four times fought across by the armies of the Kaiser and the Czar the land of the Poles was absolutely devastated and the chance of obtaining a meagre living during the long winter months rendered nil. Between twenty and thirty million people in Poland who have no part in the war are rendered homeless and destitute. Death either by exposure or starvation is theirs unless relief comes soon.

Germany has seen the white ghost of famine and despair which stalks abroad in Poland and the shock has brought sanity and human sympathy. In that particular at least humane impulses have supplanted the lusts and cruelties of war. Germany has asked the United States to assist in relieving the sufferings of the Poles and in that triumph of human pity and mercy over the spirit of war the advocates of peace see their bright ray of hope.

Germany has maintained a high purpose to eventually lead Poland away from the oppressions of Russia and give that troubled land a measure of the national freedom its people have long sought but that was rather a vague and distant ambition. Praiseworthy but unavailable as a means of present relief. Germany has intended as an after affair of war to deal with Poland justly, but that was a part of the war program and did not disturb the merciless work of war.

Now the better impulses have been aroused and if Germany will pause long enough to consider Poland's present plight and seek relief against the horrors of war is it unreasonable to hope that Germany will soon think of the present plight of the people of Germany and of the peoples of those other lands with which Germany is at war? Is it unreasonable to hope too that the people of those other lands may realize and appreciate their own sufferings and that a triumph of mercy and peace and good will follow in the wake of the specter of despair which has stalked out of stricken Poland?

Recognition of the havoc created is the first sign of returning consciousness.

The Local Phaze of It

There is a purely local phaze involved in the election tomorrow, the importance of which should not be overlooked nor minimized by the voters of Fayette county and especially not by the voters of Washington C. H.

Washington people and Washington business men, particularly, can ill afford, for financial and other reasons, to allow the result of tomorrow's balloting to be such as justify the liberal forces in belief that this city is debatable territory.

Our business men have not forgotten the old wet and dry campaigns which converted the ordinarily pleasant and orderly social and business life of the community into confusion and chaos with all the financial losses usually attendant upon such contests.

Washington citizens and business men, when they fully appreciate the local phaze of a state wide issue, will spare no effort, certainly, in bringing about a result in the election which will leave no question in the mind of any wet or dry advocate as to the sentiment existing here.

From a cold blooded standpoint of dollars and cents—as a business proposition pure and simple—laying aside, if you please, the moral phaze entirely and laying aside also, if you please, all views on the state wide proposal, Washington citizens and business men cannot afford to have any misunderstanding about the sentiment of the public on the local issue.

If this city declares by a big majority for state wide prohibition then, even though defeat may come to the proposal in the state, Washington will be known to be so pronouncedly dry that our citizens and business men will be spared the social and business bedlam bound to follow if a local campaign is precipitated.

No voter in Washington should fail to realize and appreciate the local phaze of the issue and to guard against the unpleasant and unprofitable contests certain to follow a result which will create a false impression abroad.

Poetry For Today

AUTUMN IN AN OLD VILLAGE.

The great gray houses sleep upon the hill
With shuttered windows, and the road is still.
The fields creep up and fold us silently
Into the white arms of the mothering sea.

June's folk have fled like gaudy butterflies,
To snatch new summers from serenest skies.
They fear the silence and the making storm.
They only go where life is safe and warm—

But we who love the autumn's loneliness
Stay on, until the water's blue caress
Turns to white fury on the bold, bleak shore,
And distant sails shine in the sun no more.

Then breaks the northern tempest, wild and rude,
And with that very strife comes solitude.

The doors are locked against the twilight's moan—
And every house stands splendidly alone!
—New York Evening Sun.

BELIEVE PEACE STILL REMOTE

Rome, Nov. 1.—The pope is not likely to support any initiative looking toward peace unless he previously is assured that the allies will give it favorable consideration. The prevailing conviction at the Vatican is that peace is still remote.

When Mexican or Haitian soldiers and others of that stamp lay down their arms before Americans in token of surrendering it is wisdom for the Americans to pick them up on the spot and store them out of harm's way.

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

If you have a bad taste in your mouth, tongue coated, appetite poor, lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, troubled with undigested food, you should take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief, so you can eat what you like. At 15c and 25c per box. All druggists. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O.

COMPROMISE BELIEVED NEAR IN STATION CASE

Formal Action of Council in Certain Legislation and Disposal of Costs Involved in the Case Said to Be All Which Stands in Way of Complete Compromise in Closing of Paint Street and Erecting Station.

Will a full compromise be reached and work on the Union Station resumed this week, or will the compromise fail and the fight be continued in the courts?

This is the question which has been bothering many persons since Saturday evening when steps were made toward compromising the fight over the erection of the union station and the closing of Paint street.

Monday the proposal is said to have narrowed down to the question of whether the city should pay the costs of the case or whether the plaintiffs in the action should foot the bill. Also as to whether council would approve the proposal of making Water street 60 feet wide and improving with macadam from Paint to Temple streets.

Saturday afternoon the attorneys and those directly interested in the case spent several hours in an effort to compromise the action, and it is understood that the plaintiffs ask that the street across the Allen-Willis properties be constructed as previously planned. Water street widened to 60 feet, and the costs of the case be paid by the city. If this is done it is understood they will withdraw further protest to closing Paint street and building the station.

The compromise proposal will be submitted to council tonight, it is understood, and the action then submitted to the B. & O. so that if an agreement is reached, work on the union station can proceed.

The contractor has been busy having material shipped to the site of the new station, cement, gravel, stone and sand together with concrete mixer and other paraphernalia being ready for immediate use.

MANY SPEAKERS DISCUSS ISSUE OF WET AND DRY

One of the most scathing arraignments of the saloon, based upon actual conditions in an adjoining county, that has ever been made in the city was that delivered at Grace church, Sunday morning, by City Solicitor Chas. C. Crabb, of London.

Mr. Crabb depicted the situation as it is in London, Madison county, at the present time and as it was before "Home Rule" carried last year. He claimed that as soon as the saloons were voted out seven years ago the village entered upon an epoch of great prosperity. Streets were improved, new light system obtained, a $125,000 school building erected and other improvements put through.

When the saloon went back into London there were more arrests for drunkenness in six months than during the previous six years, he stated. One night recently 12 men and 4 women were in the city prison and 11 in the county jail, nearly all charged with being intoxicated, said Mr. Crabb, and at least two of the men were from Fayette county. He gave facts and figures which greatly impressed his audience.

Other speakers in the various churches throughout the city and county spoke for prohibition. One of the most notable of these speeches was that at Memorial Hall, Sunday night, when Dr. R. M. Hughey discussed the tax question as related to prohibition, ridiculing the argument that higher taxes will prevail if prohibition carries. The Presbyterian orchestra furnished a number of splendidly rendered numbers prior to the address.

WELL KNOWN ATTORNEY CALLED BY DEATH

Relatives and friends in this city learned with deep regret of the death of Attorney Scott Bonham, at his home in Cincinnati, Monday morning, aged 57 years.

Born and raised in Madison county, Mr. Bonham had spent the past thirty years in Cincinnati, engaging in the practice of law with marked success, becoming prominently identified with numerous business interests, and holding a high position in the esteem of the community. He was a Scottish Rite Mason and active in church and benevolent work.

Mr. Bonham's mother was, before her marriage, Miss Letitia Hays, of this city, and he leaves a large family connection in this city.

For some years he has suffered from serious heart trouble.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, in Cincinnati, under the auspices of the Scottish Rite Masons.

Thursday morning the body will be taken via the Big Four to London, for burial in the family lot.

WEDNESDAY Wm. Fox Presents VALESKA SURATT
(the fashion plate of dramatic stage) in THE SOUL OF BROADWAY

HALLOWE'EN CELEBRATION ONE OF RARE ENJOYMENT

Public Parade Followed By Merry Stunts at the Y. M. C. A. Greatly Enjoyed By All Who Participate and All Who Witness Performance.

A large number took part in the Hallowe'en parade Saturday night, and many really good costumes were in evidence, with a liberal sprinkling of "Charlie Chaps," clowns, tramps, and a score of other characters usually found in such celebrations.

The parade was in charge of Mr. B. F. Toops and proved an event of much merriment, big crowds lining the streets to watch the procession go by and applauding their favorites. And the crowd is still wondering who the embarrassed groom was who proudly led the blushing bride in the procession and had forgotten to fasten a tell-tale curl under "his" hat.

Julian Kier, as a Jew salesman, was awarded the first prize for best costume, and little Robert Flee, aged 7 years, won first prize as the best Charlie Chaplin in the bunch.

At the Y. M. C. A. all was in readiness for those who were to be admitted, and upon the return of the paraders they were admitted and one by one ran the gauntlet of the ghosts in a dark passageway they were suddenly precipitated to the basement boor and were greeted by terrible yells and thumps with stuffed clubs. The big swimming tank, full of water, was a mass of what appeared to be boiling water, phosphorus scattered upon the surface producing the effect. Crossing the water on a pontoon bridge the candidate received a severe swat with a slapstick as he leaned over to crawl under the guardrail at the end of the bridge. After other experiences the victim eventually reached the gym where the main stunts were pulled off to the merriment and delight of all. Pumpkin pie, sweet cider and apples were served in abundance.

A number of visitors watched the sport. The judges of costumes were Dr. L. M. McFadden, B. E. Kelley and Gilbert Adams.

CHARGE OF THE LIGHT BRIGADE
Ed. Herald:—

Last week we were favored with the Gas Company ad., fully advising the public relative to the proposed lighting contract. Therein we are informed that outside the White Way the new contract will require 30 per cent more current than the present contract, and that including the White Way, 80 per cent more current will be required.

Much light is shed by the Company's statement, and from it we should draw our own conclusions.

It is said we now have 130 arc lamps, 12 of which are supposed to be of 1800 candle power, and 118 of 1200 candle power. Accordingly, we have been paying for 163,200 candle power of electric lighting on a moonlight basis of 3,000 hours yearly.

Under the new system of 685 lamps, 406 of 100 candle power and the rest of 250 candle power, we are supposed to get, and must pay for, 119,850 candle power of lighting.

The Company states that it will require 80 per cent more current to serve the new 685 lamps of 119,850 aggregate candle power, than it has given in serving 130 lamps supposed to supply 163,200 candle power. Nobody believes that we have ever got what we have paid for; and the statement of the Company now confirms that belief.

The statement also suggests the following simple problem: If to serve 119,850 candle power it will require 80 per cent more current than to serve lamps furnished for ten years' as of 163,200 candle power, how far short will the Company fall in furnishing the stipulated lighting service in the next ten years?

Candle power is in direct proportion to current. The Company places itself in the posture of informing the public that under its old contract to furnish 163,200 candle power of lighting, it has given 66,500 candle power. If it be judged by this experience which it admits to, we shall get in the coming ten years just forty per cent of what it agrees to furnish.

The Company's figuring of cost is also illuminating. It "estimates" the cost. Estimates can be made to prove anything. Experience is our best guide. If our money measure of payment were as elusive as the Company's measures of current and candle power, we should have a Mexicanized civilization. It would be too awful for any use to pay with a currency as far below par as the admitted standard of performance. We will not be allowed to pay with forty cent dollars.

We are told the service is to cost $12,640 yearly for the next ten years. Why increase the cost, in view of admitted performance? Is it because the Company has a cinch on a contract, on its own terms? Council has served notice that there is no room for another lighting company; and the Franchise Committee will be given time to report on the Inskeep application for a franchise until after the public is hogtied with a new contract.

It is refreshing to share the Company's confidence. But, measured by what it agreed to furnish in the last ten years, namely 163,200 candle power of lighting for 3,000 hours per year, what ought we to pay for 119,850 candle power for 4,000 hours per year?

The Company says our hired Engineer claims lower prices will obtain for street lighting under the new contract than in any other Ohio city. We have heard that our Engineer was wished onto us by the Dutch Treat Club; that the Engineer approached his job with a sense of shock at our prices and service; and that he assured us he would remedy our wrongs and shape up a scheme warranted to give more light at less cost. And the product of his endeavors is proportioned as follows:

1. 685 lamps are to grow where 130 bloomed before;
2. 264 lamps make a White Way now lighted by 12 arc lamps;
3. The Company with a forty per cent record of service follows the

Engineer's lead, and revises the tariff upwards;

4. The Engineer, called to explain such results, tells us we are not to ask him to give away trade secrets;

5. The Company is assured that competition will not be tolerated for the lighting contract;

6. The Council indorses the Company, the Company indorses the Engineer, the Engineer indorses the other two; and the Company says he is the City's very own!

As to the White Way, it may be predicted we shall have the experience of a northern city in Ohio, where property owners announced that an assessment would be submitted to when Hades should be equipped with a skating rink.

If, as the signs point, certain legal forms are now to be gone through to land us where we were when the admitted illegal contract was called off for the coming ten years, is it to be supposed the objecting property owners will lay down? Let us hope we shall be treated to further statements from the Light Brigade.

Come Every Day If You Can

In Social Circles

The Freshour home, on the Prairie pike, was the scene of much merriment last Friday night when Miss Jennie Freshour delightfully entertained a number of her young friends with Halloween celebrations. The house and lawn was profusely decorated with Jack 'O Lanterns, black cats, witches, fodder and leaves.

Upon the arrival of the guests they were escorted to the "ghost room" from which they reappeared as spooky ghosts for a ghost walk in the dark, having all kinds of uncanny experiences before they were unmasked and were led in couples to the witch's tent to have their fortunes told.

In a guessing contest, the first prize, a box of candy, was awarded to Miss Elizabeth Mark and Gilbert Freshour, the booby was awarded to Miss Ruth Miller and Walter Kearney.

Appropriate refreshments were served.

Miss Elizabeth McCafferty and Miss Sylvia Taylor assisted in the hospitalities.

Music was furnished throughout the evening, Miss Sylvia Taylor presiding at the piano.

At one o'clock the guests, numbering about forty, departed, each enthusiastic over the evening's pleasure.

Miss Charlotte Dahl charmingly entertained the Saturday evening Bridge club.

After the game an elaborate luncheon was served, with Halloween cleverly suggested in decorations, favors and place cards. Mr. Cyril Edwards of Cleveland, Messrs Thompson and Lind of Troy, were out of town guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Persinger, Miss Fannie Persinger, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Persinger motored to Maple Grove Springs Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hughey, daughter Susan Jane, Mrs. John Noble, Mr. and Mrs. Foster Lane, made a motoring trip to Clifton, Sunday.

Mrs. K. C. Maynard, daughters Mrs. H. B. Dahl and Mrs. D. S. Craig, Mrs. George H. Hitchcock and guest Miss MacMartin, of San Francisco, Cal., motored to Cincinnati, Monday, for a couple of days' stay. Mrs. Maynard will be the guest of Col. and Mrs. E. E. Wood and Mrs. Hitchcock and guest will visit the former's mother, Mrs. J. D. Stuckey.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Barnes spent Sunday with their son, Mr. Homer Barnes, and wife, in Hillsboro.

Mr. R. R. Kibler joined his wife and daughter Maxine, in Greenfield to spend Sunday and accompany them home from a week's visit.

Mr. Wm. Campbell spent Sunday in Cincinnati.

Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Stitt, son Robert, accompanied by Mr. J. W. Stitt and daughter Miss Ercel, were Sunday guests at Maple Grove Springs.

Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Holmes, Misses Smythe and Stall, of Plain City, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Post, of Staunton, Sunday.

Mr. Robert McKee of Bainbridge was a Sunday visitor in this city.

Mrs. O. E. Hardway and son, Mrs. G. M. Paul, Misses Louise and Bess Arehart, visited the rifle practice camp at Orient, Sunday.

Miss Opal Wood of Circleville was the week end guest of Miss Frances Bishop.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Parrett, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Maynard, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McLean, daughter Katharine, Mr. and Mrs. Gerrie Spragg motored to London Sunday to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Riddle.

Hon. and Mrs. C. A. Reid and daughter Miss Ruth were week end guests in Columbus to attend the Amati Concert. Miss Zella Patton motored home with them to spend Sunday.

PINT OF WATER DROWNS A MAN

Clinton Cheney, 37, of Bucks township, Ross county, who was well known in this city where he has relatives, met death by drowning in a pint of water while at work on the John Forsythe farm.

The man, who was subject to epileptic attacks, had been sent to water the horses. A half hour later he was found face downward in a very small puddle of water, having been seized with one of the attacks and fell helpless with his face in the puddle just enough to strangle him to death.

The man was married and leaves five children.

NOTICE

To the Voters of Washington C. H.: I respectfully call your attention to my candidacy for the office of Mayor upon an Independent Ticket, and for your consideration and approval I desire to say that I am heartily in accord with law and enforcement and do not believe in tolerating bootlegging or gambling in any form, and will say that if I am elected to the office to which I aspire, and if I do not, within the first six months of my administration suppress bootlegging, gambling and other forms of vice, I will, at that time, resign my office.

I am firmly convinced that all citizens should stand upon the same level in the eyes of the law, and it shall be my endeavor, if I am elected Mayor, to treat all alike without fear or favor, and earnestly endeavor to work for the betterment of Washington C. H. and her citizens. I assure you that any support you may give me or any assistance rendered by a kind word, will be fully appreciated by me.

Most sincerely yours,
M. L. GRAY.

BIBLE CLASS HOLDS ANNUAL ELECTION

The Men's Bible class of Grace M. E. church held its annual election of officers, Sunday morning, re-electing Judge T. N. Craig president of the class and Attorney Nye Gregg vice-president.

Mr. Fred Schmid was elected secretary-treasurer, taking the place of Mr. Frank Blessing, who was not a candidate for the office.

Four teachers were chosen by the class, Rev. J. V. Stone being selected as the first teacher, Rev. John Dalbey was chosen the first assistant teacher, Attorney W. B. Rodgers second assistant and Attorney D. L. Thompson third assistant.

The president and regular teacher will select new committees at once and the big class will be thoroughly organized within a very short time.

CASEY JONES MAY GO TO THE WORKS

Nathaniel "Casey" Jones, arrested Friday night for stealing corn and harness, has signified his intention to pleading guilty to the charge of harness stealing. He denies all knowledge of a sack which was found near him and which is supposed to have been ready to carry off corn or chickens.

TARGET PRACTICE FOR LOCAL TROOPS

Company M, National Guards of this city, joined Company B, of Columbus, at Orient Saturday for two days' rifle practice.

Lieut. Paul took over part of the local company on Saturday, while Capt. O. E. Hardway accompanied the remainder Sunday morning.

AERIAL WARFARE.

Perils Aviators in the European Armies Have to Face.

Volumes might be written, says Mr. Charles Lincoln Freestone in Scribner's Magazine, about the innumerable thrilling adventures and narrow escapes incidental to the aerial warfare now raging in Europe.

Flight Commander Claude Grahame-White during the naval air raid on the Belgian coast ran into a fierce snowstorm that overpowered his planes and literally hurled him into the sea from a height of 7,000 feet. After being thirty-five minutes in the water he was picked up by a French mine sweeper, which was then shelled for an hour and a half by German guns. Truly, a lively experience!

One member of the Royal Flying corps was almost completely dazed by shell fire at close quarters and lost command of his machine. For some little time it gyrated about and finally "looped the loop," but before the point of actual disaster was reached he regained possession of his faculties and alighted with the machine under control.

A naval air man, when flying seaward entered a thick white cloud and wholly lost his sense of direction. He realized that he was flying upside down only when he found that things were falling out of his pockets. Then his belt broke, and he had to hang on by his knees and elbows. At length he emerged from the cloud and saw the sea apparently over his head, but he was able to right his machine and continue his flight.

France increased the soldiers' wage 4 cents per day and borrowed money over here to foot the bill.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Apoplexy.

Apoplexy stands near the top of as a cause of death among old people. After passing middle age it is well for people of apoplectic tendency to note digestion carefully and to avoid all intemperance in eating and drinking. And another sensible thing would be to have a thorough physical examination by a good doctor at least once a year.

Our great navy that is to be will doubtless number oil driven ships, and the preparedness idea suggests that the future supply be looked after before it is too late. It would be awkward to get into a big war with some Rockefeller or some bullying nation with a bigger navy to hold us up on the price or on supply. It is unbelievable that all the oil bearing lands of the globe which might be open to purchase have been already gobbled up.

DOCTOR PRESCRIBED VINOL

To Restore Strength To This Weak, Nervous Woman.

Many fair-minded doctors prescribe Vinol because they know of what it is made, viz.—the medicinal extracts of fresh cod livers, peptonate of iron and beef peptonate, without oil or grease, in a mild tonic wine. They know these are the oldest and most famous tonics. Read the result in Mrs. Mason's case.

"I keep house for my little family of two, and got into a weak, nervous run-down condition. I was tired and weak and did not know what ailed me. My doctor prescribed Vinol. I noticed an improvement before I had finished the first bottle, and I am now feeling fine and doing all my household work." Mrs. M. S. Mason, 293, Passaic St., Trenton, N. J.

Every weak, nervous, run-down person, feeble old people and delicate child in Washington C. H., should try Vinol on our offer to return their money if it fails to benefit. Blackmer & Tanquary, druggists, Washington C. H., O.

TO WASHINGTON C. H. CITIZENS:

At this time I feel in duty bound to call upon every citizen of Washington Court House, who is opposed to the return of saloons in our city, to go to the polls early Tuesday morning and vote "Yes" on State-wide Prohibition.

In making this appeal urgent I am prompted not only by a desire to see the Prohibition Amendment win, but first because I am reliably informed as to the program of the liquor interests for Washington Court House. Last year Washington Court House voted dry by only 94 majority. If that majority is reduced this year we may expect to be plunged into a local option election by the filing of a wet petition if the State-wide Prohibition Amendment does not carry.

Your committee has been working night and day to avert such a disaster to our city, and therefore, as your Chairman, I am calling upon every true citizen of this city, men and women alike, to use every legitimate means within their power to defeat this brazen attempt to again open Washington Court House to saloons.

M. E. HITCHCOCK, Chairman
Payette County Dry Committee.

COMPROMISE BELIEVED NEAR IN STATION CASE

Formal Action of Council in Certain Legislation and Disposal of Costs Involved in the Case Said to Be All Which Stands in Way of Complete Compromise in Closing of Paint Street and Erecting Station.

Will a full compromise be reached and work on the Union Station resumed this week, or will the compromise fail and the fight be continued in the courts?

This is the question which has been bothering many persons since Saturday evening when steps were made toward compromising the fight over the erection of the union station and the closing of Paint street.

Monday the proposal is said to have narrowed down to the question of whether the city should pay the costs of the case or whether the plaintiffs in the action should foot the bill. Also as to whether council would approve the proposal of making Water street 60 feet wide and improving with macadam from Paint to Temple streets.

Saturday afternoon the attorneys and those directly interested in the case spent several hours in an effort to compromise the action, and it is understood that the plaintiffs ask that the street across the Allen-Willis properties be constructed as previously planned. Water street widened to 60 feet, and the costs of the case be paid by the city. If this is done it is understood they will withdraw further protest to closing Paint street and building the station.

The compromise proposal will be submitted to council tonight, it is understood, and the action then submitted to the B. & O. so that if an agreement is reached, work on the union station can proceed.

The contractor has been busy having material shipped to the site of the new station, cement, gravel, stone and sand together with concrete mixer and other paraphernalia being ready for immediate use.

MANY SPEAKERS DISCUSS ISSUE OF WET AND DRY

One of the most scathing arraignment of the saloon, based upon actual conditions in an adjoining county, that has ever been made in the city was that delivered at Grace church, Sunday morning, by City Solicitor Chas. C. Crabb, of London.

Mr. Crabb depicted the situation as it is in London, Madison county, at the present time and as it was before "Home Rule" carried last year. He claimed that as soon as the saloons were voted out seven years ago the village entered upon an epoch of great prosperity. Streets were improved, new light system obtained, a $125,000 school building erected and other improvements put through.

When the saloon went back into London there were more arrests for drunkenness in six months than during the previous six years, he stated. One night recently 12 men and 4 women were in the city prison and 11 in the county jail, nearly all charged with being intoxicated, said Mr. Crabb, and at least two of the men were from Fayette county. He gave facts and figures which greatly impressed his audience.

Other speakers in the various churches throughout the city and county spoke for prohibition. One of the most notable of these speeches was that at Memorial Hall, Sunday night, when Dr. R. M. Hughey discussed the tax question as related to prohibition, ridiculing the argument that higher taxes will prevail if prohibition carries. The Presbyterian orchestra furnished a number of splendidly rendered numbers prior to the address.

Clothing, household goods, dishes, cooking utensils, in fact every thing finds a ready sale, so don't neglect to send a donation however small to the Welfare Association rummage sale.

WELL KNOWN ATTORNEY CALLED BY DEATH

Relatives and friends in this city learned with deep regret of the death of Attorney Scott Bonham, at his home in Cincinnati, Monday morning, aged 57 years.

Born and raised in Madison county, Mr. Bonham had spent the past thirty years in Cincinnati, engaging in the practice of law with marked success, becoming prominently identified with numerous business interests, and holding a high position in the esteem of the community. He was a Scottish Rite Mason and active in church and benevolent work.

Mr. Bonham's mother was, before her marriage, Miss Letitia Hays, of this city, and he leaves a large family connection in this city.

For some years he has suffered from serious heart trouble.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, in Cincinnati, under the auspices of the Scottish Rite Masons.

Thursday morning the body will be taken via the Big Four to London, for burial in the family lot.

CARS DAMAGED BY CARELESS DRIVING

Dr. L. L. Brock's automobile and the Kerns Thompson machine were considerably damaged, Sunday afternoon, when Wilbur Rickman was in the act of driving the Brock car to the garage to wash it.

The Thompson car was standing along the street and in making the turn the man drove Dr. Brock's car into the Thompson car, damaging both machines.

HALLOWE'EN CELEBRATION ONE OF RARE ENJOYMENT

Public Parade Followed By Merry Stunts at the Y. M. C. A. Greatly Enjoyed By All Who Participate and All Who Witness Performance.

A large number took part in the Halloween parade Saturday night, and many really good costumes were in evidence, with a liberal sprinkling of "Charlie Chaps," clowns, tramps, and a score of other characters usually found in such celebrations.

The parade was in charge of Mr. B. F. Toops and proved an event of much merriment, big crowds lining the streets to watch the procession go by and applauding their favorites. And the crowd is still wondering who the embarrassed groom was who proudly led the blushing bride in the procession and had forgotten to fasten a tell-tale curl under "his" hat.

Julian Kier, as a Jew salesman, was awarded the first prize for best costume, and little Robert Flee, aged 7 years, won first prize as the best Charlie Chaplin in the bunch.

At the Y. M. C. A. all was in readiness for those who were to be admitted, and upon the return of the paraders they were admitted and one by one ran the gauntlet of the ghosts in a dark passageway they were suddenly precipitated to the basement floor and were greeted by terrible yells and thumps with stuffed clubs. The big swimming tank, full of water, was a mass of what appeared to be boiling water, phosphorus scattered upon the surface producing the effect. Crossing the water on a pontoon bridge the candidate received a severe swat with a slapstick as he leaned over to crawl under the guardrail at the end of the bridge. After other experiences the victim eventually reached the gym where the main stunts were pulled off to the merriment and delight of all. Pumpkin pie, sweet cider and apples were served in abundance.

A number of visitors watched the sport. The judges of costumes were Dr. L. M. McFadden, B. E. Kelley and Gilbert Adams.

CHARGE OF THE LIGHT BRIGADE

Ed. Herald:—
Last week we were favored with the Gas Company ad., fully advising the public relative to the proposed lighting contract. Therein we are informed that outside the White Way the new contract will require 30 per cent more current than the present contract, and that including the White Way, 80 per cent more current will be required.

Much light is shed by the Company's statement, and from it we should draw our own conclusions. It is said we now have 130 arc lamps, 12 of which are supposed to be of 1800 candle power, and 118 of 1200 candle power. Accordingly, we have been paying for 163,200 candle power of electric lighting on a moonlight basis of 3,000 hours yearly.

Under the new system of 685 lamps, 496 of 100 candle power and the rest of 250 candle power, we are supposed to get, and must pay for, 119,850 candle power of lighting.

The Company states that it will require 80 per cent more current to serve the new 685 lamps of 119,850 aggregate candle power, than it has given in serving 130 lamps supposed to supply 163,200 candle power. Nobody believes that we have ever got what we have paid for; and the statement of the Company now confirms that belief.

The statement also suggests the following simple problem: If to serve 119,850 candle power it will require 80 per cent more current than to serve lamps furnished for ten years as of 163,200 candle power, how far short will the Company fall in furnishing the stipulated lighting service in the next ten years?

Candle power is in direct proportion to current. The Company places itself in the posture of informing the public that under its old contract to furnish 163,200 candle power of lighting, it has given 66,500 candle power. If it be judged by this experience which it admits to, we shall get in the coming ten years just forty per cent of what it agrees to furnish.

The Company's figuring of cost is also illuminating. It "estimates" the cost. Estimates can be made to prove anything. Experience is our best guide. If our money measure of payment were as elusive as the Company's measures of current and candle power, we should have a Mexicanized civilization. It would be too awful for any use to pay with a currency as far below par as the admitted standard of performance. We will not be allowed to pay with forty cent dollars.

We are told the service is to cost $12,640 yearly for the next ten years. Why increase the cost, in view of admitted performance? Is it because the Company has a cinch on a contract, on its own terms? Council has served notice that there is no room for another lighting company; and the Franchise Committee will be given time to report on the Inskeep application for a franchise until after the public is hogtied with a new contract.

It is refreshing to share the Company's confidence. But, measured by what it agreed to furnish in the last ten years, namely 163,200 candle power of lighting for 3,000 hours per year, what ought we to pay for 119,850 candle power for 4,000 hours per year?

The Company says our hired Engineer claims lower prices will obtain for street lighting under the new contract than in any other Ohio city. We have heard that our Engineer was wished onto us by the Dutch Treat Club; that the Engineer approached his job with a sense of shock at our prices and service; and that he assured us he would remedy our wrongs and shape up a scheme warranted to give more light at less cost. And the product of his endeavors is proportioned as follows:

1. 685 lamps are to grow where 130 bloomed before;
2. 264 lamps make a White Way now lighted by 12 arc lamps;
3. The Company with a forty per cent record of service follows the

Engineer's lead, and revises the tariff upwards:

4. The Engineer, called to explain such results, tells us we are not to ask him to give away trade secrets;

5. The Company is assured that competition will not be tolerated for the lighting contract;

6. The Council indorses the Company, the Company indorses the Engineer, the Engineer indorses the other two; and the Company says he is the City's very own!

As to the White Way, it may be predicted we shall have the experience of a northern city in Ohio, where property owners announced that an assessment would be submitted to when Hades should be equipped with a skating rink.

If, as the signs point, certain legal forms are now to be gone through to land us where we were when the admitted illegal contract was called off for the coming ten years, is it to be supposed the objecting property owners will lay down? Let us hope we shall be treated to further statements from the Light Brigade.

Come Every Day If You Can

In Social Circles

The Freshour home, on the Prairie pike, was the scene of much merriment last Friday night when Miss Jennie Freshour delightfully entertained a number of her young friends with Hallowe'en celebrations. The house and lawn was profusely decorated with Jack 'O Lanterns, black cats, witches, fodder and leaves.

Upon the arrival of the guests they were escorted to the "ghost room" from which they reappeared as spooky ghosts for a ghost walk in the dark, having all kinds of uncanny experiences before they were unmasked and were led in couples to the witch's tent to have their fortunes told.

In a guessing contest, the first prize, a box of candy, was awarded to Miss Elizabeth Mark and Gilbert Freshour, the booty was awarded to Miss Ruth Miller and Walter Kearney.

Appropriate refreshments were served.

Miss Elizabeth McCafferty and Miss Sylvia Taylor assisted in the hospitalities.

Music was furnished throughout the evening, Miss Sylvia Taylor presiding at the piano.

At one o'clock the guests, numbering about forty, departed, each enthusiastic over the evening's pleasure.

Miss Charlotte Dahl charmingly entertained the Saturday evening Bridge club.

After the game an elaborate luncheon was served, with Hallowe'en cleverly suggested in decorations, favors and place cards. Mr. Cyril Edwards of Cleveland, Messrs Thompson and Lind of Troy, were out of town guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Persinger, Miss Fannie Persinger, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Persinger motored to Maple Grove Springs Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hughey, daughter Susan Jane, Mrs. John Noble, Mr. and Mrs. Foster Lane, made a motoring trip to Clifton, Sunday.

Mrs. K. C. Maynard, daughters Mrs. H. B. Dahl and Mrs. D. S. Craig, Mrs. George H. Hitchcock and guest Miss MacMartin, of San Francisco, Cal., motored to Cincinnati, Monday, for a couple of days' stay. Mrs. Maynard will be the guest of Col. and Mrs. E. E. Wood and Mrs. Hitchcock and guest will visit the former's mother, Mrs. J. D. Stuckey.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Barnes spent Sunday with their son, Mr. Homer Barnes, and wife, in Hillsboro.

Mr. R. R. Kibler joined his wife and daughter Maxine, in Greenfield to spend Sunday and accompany them home from a week's visit.

Mr. Wm. Campbell spent Sunday in Cincinnati.

Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Stitt, son Robert, accompanied by Mr. J. W. Stitt and daughter Miss Ercel, were Sunday guests at Maple Grove Springs.

Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Holmes, Misses Smythe and Stall, of Plain City, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Post, of Staunton, Sunday.

Mr. Robert McKee of Bainbridge was a Sunday visitor in this city.

Mrs. O. E. Hardway and son, Mrs. G. M. Paul, Misses Louise and Bess Arehart, visited the rifle practice camp at Orient, Sunday.

Miss Opal Wood of Circleville was the week end guest of Miss Frances Bishop.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Parrett, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Maynard, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McLean, daughter Katharine, Mr. and Mrs. Gerrie Spragg motored to London Sunday to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Riddle.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bradley and son of Springfield were the guests of Mrs. O. J. Mobley and family Sunday.

Hon. and Mrs. C. A. Reid and daughter Miss Ruth were week end guests in Columbus to attend the Amati Concert. Miss Zella Patton motored home with them to spend Sunday.

TO WASHINGTON C. H. CITIZENS:

At this time I feel in duty bound to call upon every citizen of Washington Court House, who is opposed to the return of saloons in our city, to go to the polls early Tuesday morning and vote "Yes" on State-wide Prohibition.

In making this appeal urgent I am prompted not only by a desire to see the Prohibition Amendment win, but first because I am reliably informed as to the program of the liquor interests for Washington Court House. Last year Washington Court House, voted dry by only 94 majority. If that majority is reduced this year we may expect to be plunged into a local option election by the filing of a wet petition if the State-wide Prohibition Amendment does not carry.

Your committee has been working night and day to avert such a disaster to our city, and therefore, as your Chairman, I am calling upon every true citizen of this city, men and women alike, to use every legitimate means within their power to defeat this brazen attempt to again open Washington Court House to saloons.

M. E. HITCHCOCK, Chairman
Fayette County Dry Committee.

PINT OF WATER DROWNS A MAN

Clinton Cheney, 37, of Bucks township, Ross county, who was well known in this city where he has relatives, met death by drowning in a pint of water while at work on the John Forsythe farm.

The man, who was subject to epileptic attacks, had been sent to water the horses. A half hour later he was found face downward in a very small puddle of water, having been seized with one of the attacks and fell helpless with his face in the puddle just enough to strangle him to death.

The man was married and leaves five children.

NOTICE

To the Voters of Washington C. H.: I respectfully call your attention to my candidacy for the office of Mayor upon an Independent Ticket, and for your consideration and approval I desire to say that I am heartily in accord with law and enforcement and do not believe in tolerating bootlegging or gambling in any form, and will say that if I am elected to the office to which I aspire, and if I do not, within the first six months of my administration suppress bootlegging, gambling and other forms of vice, I will, at that time, resign my office.

I am firmly convinced that all citizens should stand upon the same level in the eyes of the law, and it shall be my endeavor, if I am elected Mayor, to treat all alike without fear or favor, and earnestly endeavor to work for the betterment of Washington C. H. and her citizens. I assure you that any support you may give me or any assistance rendered by a kind word, will be fully appreciated by me.

Most sincerely yours,
M. L. GRAY.

BIBLE CLASS HOLDS ANNUAL ELECTION

The Men's Bible class of Grace M. E. church held its annual election of officers, Sunday morning, electing Judge T. N. Craig president of the class and Attorney Nye Gregg vice-president.

Mr. Fred Schmid was elected secretary-treasurer, taking the place of Mr. Frank Blessing, who was not a candidate for the office.

Four teachers were chosen by the class, Rev. J. V. Stone being selected as the first teacher, Rev. John Dalbey was chosen the first assistant teacher, Attorney W. B. Rodgers second assistant and Attorney D. L. Thompson third assistant.

The president and regular teacher will select new committees at once and the big class will be thoroughly organized within a very short time.

IMPRESSIVE SERVICES AT EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Bishop Reese, of Columbus, conducted a most impressive confirmation service, well attended, at St. Andrew's Episcopal church, Sunday morning.

There was a class of five confirmed.

The bishop delivered a fine sermon, his theme, "Prayer."

CASEY JONES MAY GO TO THE WORKS

Nathaniel "Casey" Jones, arrested Friday night for stealing corn and harness, has signified his intention to pleading guilty to the charge of harness stealing. He denies all knowledge of a sack which was found near him and which is supposed to have been ready to carry off corn or chickens.

TARGET PRACTICE FOR LOCAL TROOPS

Company M, National Guards of this city, joined Company B, of Columbus, at Orient Saturday for two days' rifle practice.

Lieut. Paul took over part of the local company on Saturday, while Capt. O. E. Hardway accompanied the remainder Sunday morning.

AERIAL WARFARE.

Perils Aviators in the European Armies Have to Face.

Volumes might be written, says Mr. Charles Lincoln Freestone in Scribner's Magazine, about the innumerable thrilling adventures and narrow escapes incidental to the aerial warfare now raging in Europe.

Flight Commander Claude Grahame-White during the naval air raid on the Belgian coast ran into a fierce snowstorm that overweighed his planes and literally hurled him into the sea from a height of 7,000 feet. After being thirty-five minutes in the water he was picked up by a French mine sweeper, which was then shelled for an hour and a half by German guns. Truly, a lively experience!

One member of the Royal Flying corps was almost completely dazed by shell fire at close quarters and lost command of his machine. For some little time it gyrated about and finally "looped the loop," but before the point of actual disaster was reached he regained possession of his faculties and alighted with the machine under control.

A naval air man when flying seaward entered a thick white cloud and wholly lost his sense of direction. He realized that he was flying upside down only when he found that things were falling out of his pockets. Then his belt broke, and he had to hang on by his knees and elbows. At length he emerged from the cloud and saw the sea apparently over his head, but he was able to right his machine and continue his flight.

France increased the soldiers' wage 4 cents per diem and borrowed money over here to foot the bill.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Apoplexy.
Apoplexy stands near the top as a cause of death among old people. After passing middle age it is well for people of apoplectic tendency to note digestion carefully and to avoid all intemperance in eating and drinking. And another sensible thing would be to have a thorough physical examination by a good doctor at least once a year.

Our great navy that is to be, without doubt, number one in the world, suggests the idea, suggests that the future supply be looked after before it is too late. It would be awkward to get into a big war with some Rockefeller or some bullying nation with a bigger navy to hold us up on the price or on supply. It is unbelievable that all the oil bearing lands of the globe which might be open to purchase have been already gobbled up.

DOCTOR PRESCRIBED VINOL

To Restore Strength To This Weak, Nervous Woman.

Many fair-minded doctors prescribe Vinol because they know of what it is made, viz.—the medicinal extractives of fresh cod livers, peptonate of iron and beef peptone, without oil or grease, in a mild tonic wine. They know these are the oldest and most famous tonics. Read the result in Mrs. Mason's case.

"I keep house for my little family of two, and got into a weak, nervous run-down condition. I was tired and weak and did not know what ailed me. My doctor prescribed Vinol. I noticed an improvement before I had finished the first bottle, and I am now feeling fine and doing all my housework." Mrs. M. S. Mason, 2032 Passaic St., Trenton, N. J.

Every weak, nervous, run-down person, feeble old people and delicate child in Washington C. H., should try Vinol on our offer to return their money if it fails to benefit. Blackmer & Tanquary, druggists, Washington C. H., O. advt.

DRYS AND WETS BOTH CONFIDENT

Campaign Closed and Question Put Up to Voter.

HEAVY VOTE ANTICIPATED

Temperance Forces Declare the Decision in Ohio Tomorrow Rests With the Rural Communities—Wet Leaders Predict Substantial Plurality For Their Cause—Line On Proposed Constitutional Amendments.

Columbus, Nov. 1.—Leaders of the dry cause in Ohio declare that if prohibition doesn't carry tomorrow, it will be beaten by its friends. Last year the friends of the dry cause numbered 500,000.

James A. White, state superintendent of the Ohio Anti-Saloon league, made the following statement: "It is squarely up to the rural communities. We are confident of such gains in the large cities that if the country districts return their normal dry vote we shall carry Ohio for prohibition tomorrow by a majority of 50,000. We shall make material gains over last year's figures in Cleveland, Columbus, Toledo, Dayton and Cincinnati."

Wet leaders say prohibition will be beaten by over 100,000. They claim thousands of men who voted dry last year now are indifferent or antagonistic.

Last year Ohio voted wet by 84,152 majority. The vote against it was 588,329.

This year's campaign for and against prohibition has differed as much from last year's as if the proposals were different. Last year the dry cause was both aided and blocked by partisan politics. Except in Cincinnati the Democratic organizations are said to have made common cause with the wets. In most of the state, except the other large cities, the Republican organizations helped the dries. Another big aid to the dries was the crusade for prohibition made by the candidates on the Progressive ticket.

This year there has been no such admixture of partisan politics. Yet there is prospect of a larger dry vote from Democrats. A number of up-state leaders in the Democratic party are said to have become converted to the dry cause.

The proposal to limit to twice in six years the use of the initiative and referendum has appealed successfully to many who have favored the initiative and referendum, but are tired of having it used for something or other annually. Of course everybody who is against the system of direct voting on propositions will support the proposal to restrict it.

Secretary William Halenkamp of the initiative and referendum defense committee expressed confidence that the stability amendment will be defeated.

Conflicting Claims.

Chairman William L. Finley of the state Democratic executive committee declared both the McDermott and Sprague referendums will be defeated. Chairman Edwin Jones of the Republican executive committee expressed the belief that the Sprague redistricting act will be approved by a large vote.

A heavy rural vote is expected to be cast against the proposed amendment granting four year terms for county officers.

The proposal that public bonds of the state and its subdivisions be exempt from taxation actually carried once, but promptly was cast out of the constitution because the amendment was construed to take the tax off outstanding bonds as well as future issues. The present proposal is only to take the tax off bonds issued after Jan. 1, 1916.

Besides passing upon proposed amendments to the state constitution, voters in every municipality will be called upon tomorrow to determine local contests for office. In a number of municipalities spirited campaigns have been waged for weeks. Columbus has experienced her first campaign under the new city charter. There are nine candidates for mayor. Forecasts of the final result is difficult, as the preferential system of voting will be employed, under which a voter may register a "first," "second" and "other choices." Mayor George J. Karb is a candidate for re-election.

BLANCHE WALSH PASSES AWAY

Cleveland, Nov. 1.—Miss Blanche Walsh's career of years as one of the premier stars of the stage ended when she died in Lakeside hospital in this city. Death came at 8:20 o'clock Sunday night, as the climax of almost twenty-four hours of unconsciousness that followed a week's struggle for life. Miss Walsh in private life was Mrs. William H. Travers. Mr. Travers was at his wife's bedside when she died. He announced that her death was due to a general breakdown and nervous prostration brought on by overwork and worry that caused a complication of ailments that made an operation necessary. Miss Walsh's body was prepared for shipment to New York. She was forty-two years old.

Blanche Walsh was born in New York city Jan. 4, 1873, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Walsh. Her father at that time was a politician in the Sixth ward. He was once warden of the Tombs prison.

VILLA'S FORCES ARE NOW AT AGUA PRIETA

Encamp On Hills South of Carranza Garrison.

ABOUT TO ATTACK ENEMY

More Than 6,000 American Soldiers at Scene of Impeixing Battle to Protect American Lives and Property—Carranza Garrison Reinforced and Holding Well Fortified Positions—Villa's Men Number 8,000.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 1.—In plain view of the garrison of Carranza soldiers under General P. E. Calles, the forces of General Villa are encamped on the hills south of Agua Prieta, opposite Douglas, Ariz.

Whether an attack will be delivered upon the waiting Carranza troops remains to be seen. There are those who believe that Villa will not make the attack because of the preparations made to resist him. Others believe that he will throw his half-starved force of men against the well entrenched Carranza forces and make a final desperate attempt to drive them, by the fury of his assault, over the line into Arizona as his last hope.

In the event of damage to American life or property, Villa runs the risk of having to fight 6,500 United States troops along with the Carranza garrison that should now number more than his own. The Carranza garrison was reinforced by the arrival of five train loads of fighting men through American territory from Piedras Negras, Coahuila.

American troops commanders at Douglas, Ariz., estimate the Calles

force behind the Agua Prieta fortifications at between 3,500 and 4,000 men prior to the arrival of reinforcements. Carranza officials declare that 5,000 reinforcements arrived there Saturday and Sunday. Sixteen pieces of field artillery are known to have arrived, also a number of machine guns. The Calles troops, many of whom are Indians, are well fortified and the location of Agua Prieta is somewhat above the ground over which Villistas will have to attack.

Villa claims 8,000 men. He has not nearly that number, however. He is said to have sixty pieces of artillery.

There was skirmishing between Carranza outposts and advance guards of Villistas. Several Villista bands were driven back and in some instances the Carranza outposts, after firing at the advancing enemy, hurried back to the protection of the Agua Prieta guns.

General Davis is very positive that he will protect Americans if the bullets fall into American territory and harm, or promise to harm, citizens of this country. General Davis officially informed Samuel Dreben and other agents of General Villa in Douglas that shooting must not harm Americans if an attack is made.

DONATES MONEY FOR EXPERIMENT

New York, Nov. 1.—The general education board, one of John D. Rockefeller's philanthropic enterprises, announced it had made gifts totaling $375,000 to four colleges and had provided the funds for a number of novel experiments in the field of education. The latter, which inaugurate a new departure in the activity of the board, include a scientific study of the Gary, Ind., scheme of public school education and of the Hampton institute system, the results of which the board intends to make available for general use throughout the country. The gifts are: Carlton college, Northfield, Minn., Congregational, $100,000; Hobart college, Geneva, N. Y., Episcopalian, $50,000; Lafayette college, Easton, Pa., Presbyterian, $200,000; and Kalamazoo college, Kalamazoo, Mich., Baptist, $25,000.

FOREIGN MARKET SUFFERS

CLAIM STEEL PRICES ARE EXCESSIVE

England and France May Close Doors to United States.

Paris, Nov. 1.—From an unimpeachable source it is learned that American sales in steel to France and England have been so seriously menaced by the excessive prices demanded that four-fifths of the market probably has been lost. At the recent conference between Albert Thomas, the French minister of munitions, and Lloyd-George, the minister of munitions for Great Britain, which was attended by the chief French and English steel manufacturers, arrangements were concluded by which British mills, many of which have been released from their usual contract obligations by the slump in the building of merchant ships, will be able not only to supply all the requirements of Great Britain, but furnish more than half of France's needs.

For the past year the French, stimulated by the excessive prices charged by American manufacturers, have been resorting to every device imaginable to increase their output, with the result that France is now able to manufacture practically all the steel she needs to complete England's contribution up to the full requirements. Hence neither country is now making contracts in the United States except for special products in small quantities. Outstanding contracts to the extent of many hundreds of thousands of tons expire in January.

ELECTION RETURNS Read from the Stage.

Be Photographed!

Fellow Citizens of Washington:—
On Tuesday next, November 2, you will be called upon to express yourselves at the polls.

My position as a candidate for Mayor has been clearly defined. I elected, as I hope to be, I will willingly and conscientiously accept the oath of office, fully cognizant of my responsibility to all the residents of the city.

At the outset I shall endeavor to eliminate to some extent the appointive power of the mayor and to safeguard the interests of our citizens through the selection of competent appointees by calling together six or more representative citizens, to select six or more other representative citizens, and all to meet in convention for the purpose of setting in an advisory capacity, recommending such persons as in their judgment, will be best qualified for offices under appointment of the mayor.

I believe that this course guarantees our citizens one and all a square deal.

Yours Sincerely,
HENRY C. SHOOP.

KEY TO SERBIAN CAPITAL FALLS

Report of Capture of Pirot By Bulgars Confirmed.

SERB ARMY IN JEOPARDY

Gap Through Which It Must Escape Narrowed by the Movements of Teutonic and Bulgarian Armies. Allied Troops On the Offensive On Southern End of Nish Railroad—On Other Fronts.

London, Nov. 1.—Late dispatches confirm the report that Pirot fortress, described as the key to Nish, the Serbian capital, has been captured by the Bulgarians. It is announced also that the Austro-Germans, advancing from the north, are endeavoring to form a ring around Kragujevatz, where the Serbian arsenal is situated. Thus, besides endangering both the Serbian war capital and the town where the Serbian munitions are manufactured, the central powers, with Bulgarian aid, are narrowing the gap through which the Serbian army in the northeast must escape.

Simultaneously the Austrians are attacking Montenegro to remove, if possible, the danger of having an enemy army on their flank. Little has been said about the fighting between the Austrians and Montenegrins along the Drina river, but apparently it is of a most sanguinary character, as it took the Austrians more than a week to force a crossing of the river at one point alone, that south of Vishegrad.

The Anglo-French troops are firmly establishing themselves along the southern end of the Nish railway, and, crossing into Bulgaria, have occupied the hills surrounding Stramitsa, although the capture of that town, which has been reported, is not officially confirmed. The allied fleets, too, have again bombarded towns on the Aegean sea.

While these efforts take some of the strain off heavily-armed Serbia, there is no reliable information as to the movements of the greater forces which, it is hoped here, will save her. Reports continue to circulate, chiefly from German sources, of a Russian army which is to march across Roumania to the rescue. But of the British and French reinforcements no news has been received.

Italy has undertaken a general offensive and there is talk of another offensive on the western front. The Germans seem to have anticipated this, as they launched a general attack in Champagne over a front of about five miles in an effort to recover ground which the French recently took from them. They succeeded in recapturing the Butte de Tahure, but, according to the French account, they were repulsed everywhere else, suffering extremely heavy losses, and to the north of Le Mesnil they actually lost one of their own trenches.

Despite the coming of winter, there has been more activity on the Russian front. There has been a lull in the fighting in Courland, where the Germans have apparently failed to take Riga or Dyvinsk or to improve to any marked degree their position. It is believed that they are preparing for another drive. It must be made soon, as snow is already falling. Along the Styria-Germans are engaged in a counter offensive and have recovered some territory which General Ivanoff took from them. Further south, in Galicia, the Russians have returned to the offensive.

Despite the opposition of the girl's father, who is a high official of the Austrian state police, Miss Rybicka gave up her home and traveled with the prince throughout the country. Finally the couple took apartments in Vienna, where the tragedy occurred.

The reconstructed story is that the girl urged marriage before the departure from Vienna. The prince futilely endeavored to obtain his father's consent. His efforts in this direction failing, the prince offered the girl half a million kronen as recompense. This offer the girl refused. The prince then pointed out marriage was impossible and tried to break off relations with the girl, in obedience to his father's orders.

Seeing the hopelessness of her plight, the girl, threw vitriol in the prince's face, destroying one eye and injuring the other, and followed the acid with shots from a revolver which she had kept concealed, four bullets finding lodgment in the prince's body. Then she turned the weapon upon herself with fatal effect.

M'GOWAN ON NAVAL STORES

Washington, Nov. 1.—Increases in the navy's store of supplies to make possible the placing of the fleets upon a war basis at a few hours' notice are urged by Rear Admiral Samuel McGowan, paymaster general, in his annual report to Secretary Daniels. For the last four years, the admiral says, navy ship tonnage fit for active service has increased 30 per cent, while there has been practically no increase in the value of stores on hand.

"As an example of financial economy," adds the report, "this makes an excellent showing; but it is a condition which should not be permitted to longer continue, for it is a matter of history that the issue of every great conflict has been in the last analysis dependent largely upon the question of supply. There should be no real difference between peace times and war times with respect to ship supply."

Admiral McGowan figures the present property investment of the navy at $859,620,376, of which $459,686,551 is represented in ships, $296,635,104 in stations and equipment and $184,238,720 in stores. The total expenditures on the navy from 1794 to 1915, inclusive, is placed at $3,214,329,641.

REPUDIATE FAY

Berlin, Nov. 1.—A special investigation by the German authorities concerning Robert Fay, under arrest in New York, charged with conspiracy in connection with an alleged plot to blow up ships carrying supplies for the entente allies, and who has declared that he was a lieutenant in the German army, was followed by a statement from the authorities that there is not now and never was an officer called Fay in the German army.

GAS FUMES KILL WOMAN

Washington, Nov. 1.—Mrs. W. S. Bolling, mother of President Wilson's fiancée, with her son, William H. Bolling, and his wife, narrowly escaped death from hydrocyanic gas poisoning here in their rooms in an apartment house. Miss Louise Roberts, twenty-three, living in an apartment directly under that occupied by Mrs. Norman Galt's mother and other relatives, was killed by the gas, which escaped from a basement room where it was being used as an insecticide. The gas penetrated to the halls and filtered into the room occupied by Miss Roberts, causing her death.

The Bollings and other families in the apartment house were aroused by the fumes and upon making an investigation found Miss Roberts had succumbed. The members of the Bolling family suffered no more harm than nausea.

COMPLY WITH SEAMAN'S LAW

New York, Nov. 1.—The seamen's law becomes operative in regard to American owned vessels next Thursday and steamship lines plying out of New York have been busily preparing for it until now they are practically ready. As far as can be learned all the steamship companies plan to comply with the law.

POOREST GAME OF THE SEASON FOR WIND UP

Local Ball Team Was Sadly Lacking in Every Department of the Game Sunday, and the New Holland Giants Take Contest With Ease

About the poorest excuse for baseball ever advanced in this city was put up by the Athletics Sunday afternoon at Athletic park. The New Holland Giants simply walked away with an easy 10 to 6 victory, at the same time garnering the championship of a series of three games.

Weather conditions were excellent and the diamond fast, and at the beginning of the game, at least, the attendance was good. The game started off in promising style but the jinx jumped in in the sixth and eight New Holland tallies had crossed the plate before the riot finished. From that time on the exhibition of the Athletics comprised of one continuous chain of errors and bonehead plays, seasoned with poor stick work, poorer base running and rotten coaching.

Packard's so-called efforts in right field were sad; Runnels booted them right and left at second and Adams simply went to fragments at third. Corwin had one error, but his play generally was first class.

"Sandy" and "Bunk" Kneisley, Bainbridge lads who did the twirling and receiving for the Athletics a week ago, were behind the guns again Sunday. Both performed splendidly, under the circumstances. The pitching of young Kneisley was on the whole, superior to that of Simms of the Giants, and with even fair support there is little doubt but that he would have pitched the locals to victory. As it was, the confusion proved a little too much for him and he was relieved by Linson in the eighth.

In the ninth Catcher Kneisley was relegated to the right garden. Adams going behind the bat and Nip Jones taking the third sack. The shift was made with a view to strengthening the third corner, but was worked too late to be effective.

But aside from the fact that the work of the locals was not up to the mark, it must be said that the New Hollanders put up a pretty good article of base ball and were as much in the game at the finish as at the start.

The game is the last of the Athletic schedule and it is to be regretted that the good work the local boys have been doing this season should close in such a manner.

AT THE EMPIRE

Gaskill & MacVitty announce the return at the Empire Theater on Tuesday, November 2, of Harold Bell Wright's dramatization of his very popular novel, "The Shepherd of the Hills," presented by a great company with special scenery, mechanical and electrical effects for the production in its entirety. In making the dramatization, Mr. Wright has collaborated with Elsbury W. Reynolds.

"The Shepherd of the Hills" is a story of humor and pathos told in a simple, direct manner of love, mystery and heroism, with its scenes all in the Ozark mountains, Southern Missouri, where the author lived and preached for some years. There are several exciting incidents, including the night ride of the splendid heroine over the hills through a storm; an attack upon the shepherd, and the moral victory of a man when a panther is about to spring upon his rival, but there is no melodramatic touch to the play.

While Mexico has suffered economically the past few years, there are well informed judges on this side of the line who believe that her chances of recovery are good. It is said that the Carranza government assumes responsibility for all debts of the government growing out of revolution. That will interest all classes to support the recognized government. The present national debt is placed at $22 per capita, and if new claims should double that figure the case would still be one to encourage enterprise and capital. Mexico's resources are of incalculable richness. Established peace should set the country forward rapidly.

AGES OF GERMAN GENERALS.

Too old at forty or at fifty either has, as a rule, no meaning in connection with the higher commands in the German army. Haeseler and Von der Goltz are seventy-nine and seventy-two years of age respectively; Von Hindenburg and Von Mackensen are sixty-eight and sixty-six; Van Kluck is sixty-nine, and of the same age are Prince Leopold of Bavaria and the Generals von Buelow and Von Hausen. Von Bissing and Von Falkenhayn are each seventy-one. Woerysch, Elchhorn, Emmich and Moltke are sixty-seven, and the following have the number of years stated after them: Ludingen, sixty-five; Heeringen, sixty-five; Scholtz, sixty-four; Gallwitz, sixty-three; Buelow, sixty-two; Einem, sixty-two; Falkenhayn, chief of general staff, fifty-four. The crown prince of Wurtemberg, Bavaria and Prussia, commanding armies, are respectively fifty, forty-six and thirty-three years of age. The latter would seem to be quite an exception.—Westminster Gazette.

Mrs. Bowser Smiles

But Mr. Bowser Laughs Upbrausiously

By M. QUAD.

Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Although living at this modern date, Mr. Bowser still clings to two or three old fashioned notions. One of them is to carry an old fashioned leather wallet with a strap around it, such as you might possibly see a farmer of today lugging around.

Mr. Bowser's great-grandfather had such a wallet, his grandfather, and it helped him to fight the battle of Bunker Hill; his father had one and lived to be ninety years old. As soon as Mr. Bowser got any money to carry around he bought him a leather wallet. This wallet has had many various adventures, one of which is to be here related.

Another of Mr. Bowser's old fashioned notions is that if a burglar should get into the house one of the first things he would swipe would be that leather wallet, reposing in his coat pocket. Still another is that should

SHE SAT DOWN ON THE FLOOR AND COUNTED THE DUM.

Mrs. Bowser by chance get that old wallet in her hands she would divide the money—perhaps take all. Therefore every night of his life before going to bed he hides that wallet. Sometimes it is under the bureau, in his shoe, in the clothes closet, under the lavatory, under the mattress, behind a picture—anywhere a burglar would not think of looking for it would be safe from Mrs. Bowser. All this has been a source of amusement to Mrs. Bowser.

The other morning, while sweeping and dusting her bedroom, she thought she saw one end of the old wallet under the bureau. As she knew that it was one of Mr. Bowser's hiding places, she reasoned that he had forgotten it in his haste to get to the office. She sat down and smiled. It had been an hour since he left, and it was a great wonder that he had not come rushing back to recover his lost property. He might be expected at any moment.

She smiled again as she reached for the wallet, but the smile faded. It was one of Mr. Bowser's old tan shoes, which had somehow escaped observation until this hour. The joke was not on Mr. Bowser, but rather on herself. Providence was kind to her, however. An hour before noon she answered the upstairs doorbell to find a grocer's boy on the steps. He had a wallet in his hand. It was Mr. Bowser's wallet. She recognized it instantly.

"Mrs. Bowser," said the boy, "Mr. Bowser stopped at our grocery when he was going downtown this morning and bought a quarter's worth of sugar."

"Yes, I told him to," was the reply.

"He was in such a hurry to get the car that he left his wallet behind. Here it is. We found it ten minutes after he went away, but expected him back."

Mrs. Bowser hunted up a quarter and gave it to the boy as his reward and took in the old wallet. The other smiles had proved failures, but the smile she smiled now must prove a success, for here was the wallet, sure enough. On the evening previous she had asked Mr. Bowser for a couple of dollars to buy gloves and handkerchiefs. He had softly and gently replied:

"I am sorry I can't do it, my dear—not for a day or two. I have less than a dollar in my pocket."

As she held the wallet in her hand it bulged suspiciously for a poor man's wallet. She carefully opened it and gave a gasp of astonishment. It was crowded with greenbacks. She sat down on the floor and counted the sum. There was $236. Mr. Bowser had fibbed to her. Here was enough to buy the gloves and handkerchiefs she would require for the rest of her life. But she knew that all husbands fibbed about money, and she did not lay it up against Mr. Bowser.

Was there a joke here? Of course there was, and a big one too. It was joke enough for Mr. Bowser to leave his wallet home, but to run off and leave it on the counter of a grocery was worth chuckling, giggling and smiling over. Why had he not gone back to the grocery when he missed it? He must have believed that he had had his pocket picked on the car.

The dear old wallet and its contents

were laid away with careful hand, and Mrs. Bowser felt so good over what would happen when the loser reached home for dinner that the cook said to her:

"Did you get a letter this morning, ma'am, saying that your dear mother would soon arrive here on a visit?"

"No. Why?"

"Why, you are smiling all over."

"Oh, I was thinking about something funny!"

"I wish I could think of something funny," sighed the cook. "Since my brother Tom died from a broken head, by a policeman's hand because he was engaged in a little row, I have seen nothing to make me smile. I think of nothing but graveyards and ghosts and tombstones and how poor Tom, had he lived on, would probably have been the champion lightweight of the world."

During the long afternoon Mrs. Bowser smiled at intervals and looked at the clock at other intervals. She expected that when Mr. Bowser did come he would come with a rush and lay the loss of the wallet to her as soon as he entered the door. She was at the front window looking out when Mr. Bowser dropped off the car. He was not in haste.

He was not flurried. As he came down the walk he had a look of supreme contentment. It did not seem possible that a man who had lost a wallet with $236 in it could be so satisfied over it.

"Hello, dear," he called out as he entered the hall. "How have things gone today?"

Was that Mr. Bowser—Samuel Bowser—the man who had turned the roof off the house when on an occasion he had lost 10 cents somewhere? Mrs. Bowser felt a chill go over her, but she drove it away. Of course it was Mr. Bowser, and he had lost an old wallet invented soon after Columbus discovered America. It was jammed with wealth. Hadn't Mr. Bowser discovered his loss yet? At the dinner table Mrs. Bowser recovered her smiles and gently led up to the great tragedy which was coming by saying that she must have the gloves and handkerchiefs by Saturday at the latest. She would also need money to buy hosiery and a few other things. She expected her words would make Mr. Bowser feel for his wallet. He didn't make the usual gesture when money was talked of. Instead of that he said:

"All in good time, honey. I shall have quite a lump of cash on Friday, and I can spare you what you want."

No, this was not Bowser—Samuel Bowser—but some other Bowser.

When they went up to the sitting room after dinner Mrs. Bowser made a more aggressive attack by saying:

"I see you stopped and ordered that sugar this morning."

"Yes, I always try to remember those things."

Not a word about his wallet, and she tried again.

"Did you forget your wallet when you went away this morning? You were in such a hurry that I thought you might have forgotten it. I have been somewhat worried all day."

"No, I didn't forget it," he replied in a careless way.

"You did not leave it at the grocery or lose it at the hands of a pickpocket?"

"Why, no, Mrs. Bowser. You know I am a careful man."

"But—but"—she was stammering, when the doorbell rang, and she answered it to find the grocer's boy there again.

"Mrs. Bowser," he said, "you are to be arrested!"

"Why—what?"

"We found a wallet after Mr. Bowser left the store this morning and thought it was his. I brought it up to the house and gave it to you. It was not Mr. Bowser's. It belongs to a man named Snider. You took it in and kept it. If you don't hand it over at once Mr. Snider is going to have you sent to prison."

Mrs. Bowser ran and got the wallet and handed it over and as she returned to the sitting room Mr. Bowser demanded:

"What is this about a wallet and a man named Snider?"

"I—I—thought it was your wallet!" she gasped.

"My wallet? Why, here is my wallet, and it has been with me every minute of the day! There seems to be a mystery here."

Mrs. Bowser remained silent. A great light suddenly came to Mr. Bowser. He chuckled like a red squirrel. He gurgled like a brook. He grinned like a contortionist. All of a sudden, like a boiler explosion, he went into the air. He laughed, he shouted, he whooped and he pounded his leg and bent backward and forward. Mrs. Bowser and the cat fled upstairs in terror, and after Mr. Bowser had continued his riot for five minutes he was obliged to go to the door to answer a ring of the bell. It was a policeman who stood there and demanded:

"Is there a maniac running loose in this house?"

"I was only laughing," replied Mr. Bowser.

"But what a laugh! I heard you half a block away."

"But, you see, my wife has the joke on me about forty-nine times out of fifty. This happens to be the fiftieth time. She thought I had lost my wallet, and I hadn't, and she took—took in—she took—"

And Mr. Bowser broke loose again as he shut the door and the officer paused at the gate to say to himself:

"I think I ought to have arrested him. That's just such laughter as my brother Bill laughed two days before we took him to a lunatic asylum and he is there yet!"

Choice of Diet.

They say a man is what he eats. A transformation speedy. I guess I'll stick to beans and beets. Tomatoes are so seedy.

NEGOTIATIONS TO BE RESUMED

By Associated Press

Washington, November 1.—Negotiations between Germany and the United States regarding the sinking of the liner Lusitania and other questions pending between the two nations will be resumed tomorrow when Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, will call upon Secretary Lansing at the State Department.

MIDDLETOWN MAN IS SHOT

By Associated Press

Middletown, O., November 1.—George H. Hervey, secretary and general manager of a large paper company here, was probably fatally shot while hunting near here today.

CHAMPION EGG LAYER OF WORLD

Philadelphia, Nov. 1.—With a record of 314 eggs in 365 days, Lady Eglington, a white Leghorn pullet, became the champion egg layer of the world. The little hen, weighing three and a half pounds, completed her year egg laying competition at Delaware college, Newark, Del., and beat the previous record of 286 eggs by 28.

The estimates of casualties in the European conflict recently given out by General F. V. Greene are worthy of attention, although they are mere guesses with the exception of the armies of Germany and Great Britain. General Greene is a veteran soldier and a painstaking historian with a trained judgment for army subjects. He places the grand total of casualties at 8,000,000, of whom 2,000,000 are dead, 4,000,000 have been wounded and 2,000,000 taken prisoners. The casualties he divides among the belligerents as follows: Russia, 2,200,000; Germany and Austria, 1,900,000 and 1,800,000 respectively; France, 1,400,000; Great Britain, 320,000, and Italy, 25,000. The losses of Serbia are not given. Germany has reported having taken 2,000,000 Russian prisoners, and, if true, that upsets General Greene's figures. Russia has admitted heavy losses in killed and wounded, and 3,500,000 may not be too high for the total casualties in the czar's army. If the figures are only approximately correct the percentage of loss has been high in comparison with recent wars. The proportion of prisoners has been very high when it is considered that there have been no great surrenders of whole armies.

King George of England threatens to become a private citizen if the war doesn't get on after his liking. Probably Kitchener would give him a private soldier's kit and a chance to fight for his hobby like the average Briton.

HARTMAN THEATER

Attractions At The Hartman Theater, Columbus, Week of November 8th.

At the Hartman Theater, Columbus, one of the most welcome and attractive entertainments of the early theatrical year will be the appearance on Tuesday and Wednesday, November 9-10th with a Wednesday matinee, of "Sari." This is Henry W. Savage's production and in "Sari" Mr. Savage has scored a success comparable only with that he achieved with "The Merry Widow." At the Hartman, the same company will appear which presented the operetta during its long and popular New York run. The organization is headed by Mizzi Hajos prima donna soubrette of unique distinction, and an immense favorite with all theater goers. It includes also, many artists of fixed reputation as actors and singers. This cast of principals is supported by a chorus which, as a singing ensemble, Mr. Savage believes is superior to any other organization ever assembled for one of his productions. The music of "Sari" has achieved worldwide popularity. Such numbers as "Love's Own Sweet Song," "The Hazazaa" and "Love Has Wings," sprang into instant popularity when heard in New York and they are played and sung now from one end of the country to the other.

As a production "Sari" is as elaborately beautiful as any production that Henry W. Savage has ever made. Mail orders for seats for this engagement will be received at the Hartman, and filled promptly in order of their receipt.

At the Hartman Theater, Columbus, on Friday and Saturday nights, November 12-13th and Saturday matinee, beautiful Julia Sanderson, Joseph Cawthorne and Donald Brian, three of America's best known and most powerful musical comedy stars, will appear in their latest and greatest New York success, "The Girl from Utah."

"The Girl From Utah" was produced originally in London, and it is said by those who are competent to judge, that it is the best of the recent examples of this kind of sparkling entertainment that George Edwards and his Gaiety Theater Company made so famous in the British metropolis. The late Charles Frohman presented it in this country early last season. The book is by James Tanner and the music by Paul Rubens and Sidney Jones, names familiar to everyone who is interested in the musical comedies brought to America from England.

It will be presented at the Hartman by a big company numbering 76 besides the stars.
